DESTROYER SPEEDING TO DEMAND REASON FOR AERIAL ATTACK

Fifteen Bombs Dropped Near British Warship in Two Attacks Off Coast of Spain—Also British Freighter Molested in Mediterranean—Another Major Victory Scored by Loyalists

LONDON, April 7 (P).—The destroyer Garland sped to the Spanish insurgent island of Mallorca tonight to present an imperative demand for explanation of aerial attacks against the destroyer Gallant.

Insurgent warplanes, which apparently came from Mallorca, dropped fifteen bombs alongside the Gallant yesterday in two attacks off the eastern coast of Spain. They were finally driven away by the destroyer's anti-aircraft fire.

FREIGHTER MOLESTED

Interference with the British freighter Thorpe Hall yesterday added to official impatience. The Thorpe Hall first was molested in the Mediterranean and again in the Bay of Biscay.

Three British destroyers conveyed her into the Spanish Government harbor of Bilbao after steaming between the insurgent warship Almirante Cervera and the Thorpe Hall.

The Admiralty recently ordered warships in the Mediterranean to swing into action whenever molested.

The Government dispatched a new note to General Franco, reminding him that he had not yet replied to protests against bombing of the destroyers Havock and Gipsy in February.

In the meantime, Scandinavian Foreign Ministers agreed to meet.

VETERANS' AID PLAN REJECTED

Proposal for Supplementary Payments to Unemployed Ex-Soldiers Refused

OTTAWA, April 7 (P).—Canada's annual expenditures on behalf of war veterans amounting to about $60,000,000 and which has cost more than $1,000,000,000 since the war, will not be increased by payment of relief to non-pensionable unemployed ex-soldiers.

Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions and National Health, himself a veteran and one-time pensioner, answered with a categorical "No" a recommendation for supplementary payments to unemployed veterans made in a report of the War Veterans' Assistance Commission, when his estimates were before the House today.

NEW WORK PLAN

At the same time he announced the Government's intention of establishing across Canada "Workshops Limited," voluntary committee work that had been very successful in Montreal, to assist the young war veterans in getting reestablished in gainful employment.

These organizations would be administered by prominent citizens and would enlist the sympathy and co-operation of people generally in getting war veterans back into occupations that would enable them to provide for themselves.

ESTIMATES PASSED

After an all-day discussion, the last of Mr. Power's pension estimates were approved tonight. At the "end of the session" R. B. Bennett made a plea for the unemployed war veterans, and Mr. Power said a permanent policy would be considered. During the Summer he would ask ex-service men's associations to make suggestions.

Manila Fire Razes Homes Of Thousands

MANILA, April 7 (P).—Fire wiped out one and one-half square miles of flimsy residences in the Tondo section of Manila today, leaving upwards of 25,000 persons homeless, one dead, eleven injured and property damage estimated at $1,000,000. A still breeze drove the flames through the densely-populated area in the northern part of Manila. Firemen were driven back for a time because water pressure was low and the lightly-constructed dwellings ignited quickly.

MAN KILLED ON HIGHWAY

W. G. Plowright Struck by Automobile at Craigflower Intersection

Struck by an automobile Provincial Police allege was in charge of Edwin C. Loughlean, 1312 Government Street, William George Plowright, sixty-nine, View Royal, sustained a crushed chest and a fracture at the base of his skull at 9:45 o'clock last evening that led to his death in St. Joseph's Hospital at 11:40 o'clock. The accident occurred at the intersection of Craigflower Road and the Island Highway. Loughlean was charged by Provincial Police and lodged in the city jail.

Police reported the late Mr. Plowright had alighted from a Gorge bus driven by Edward Wilkinson, 2800 Heath Drive, and was walking across to the Island Highway en route to View Royal when the automobile allegedly in charge of Loughlean came from the direction of Four-Mile Hill and knocked him down when turning into Admirals Road.

PASSES IN HOSPITAL

On receipt of a call from a nearby service station, Constables G. Davis and P. H. Brown, of the Provincial Police, dispatched a C. & C. ambulance and rushed to the spot. Mr. Plowright was conscious en route to the city, and was attended by Dr. J. H. Moore at St. Joseph's Hospital. He passed away from his injuries within two hours of admission.

Police said Loughlean and the three passengers in the automobile declared they did not see Mr. Plowright until he was struck. Passengers were Miss Florence Anderson, Miss Mildred Penon and Charles Adams, all of 821 Devonshire Road. Mr. Wilkinson, the bus driver, saw the accident.

NATIVE OF ENGLAND

Born in Tunbridge Wells, England, the late Mr. Plowright spent ten years in Saskatchewan before arriving in Victoria over thirty years ago. During the war he was in charge of the band at R.C.N. Barracks, and for many years had taken a deep interest in boys' bands and string orchestras. He was one of Victoria's leading music teachers. He is survived by his widow and one son, Charles, at home. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

STRIKE CALLED IN PLANT AT OSHAWA

OSHAWA, April 8.—A strike of General Motors Corporation employees here, involving 3,700 workers, was called for 7:01 a.m. today by the United Automobile Workers of America. The strike is the first called in Canada by the C.I.O. after weeks of negotiations in which the workers demanded a 40-hour week, time and a half for overtime, and formal recognition of the U.A.W. The employers refuse to grant recognition.

Central Executive Rounds Out Plans to Secure Nomination of Four Outstanding Candidates at Open Convention—Port Dues Protested

VICTORIA Conservatives cleared the decks for action last evening with plans to put four outstanding candidates in the field after an open nominating convention to be held shortly after the polling date is known. Meanwhile a committee was appointed to interview possible nominees, but without any powers of invitation.

Advisory, organization, finance and other committees are awaiting into action for a short intensive and well-informed campaign. R. D. Harvey presided at a spirited meeting of the central executive, held at the Conservative rooms. City Conservatives will await the Photographed as he came off the Vancouver boat yesterday afternoon, Most Reverend John C. Cody, who was installed Bishop of Victoria at St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening, is shown above with two of his clergy, Rev. Carl Albury, left, and Rev. J. A. Gaudette, right. A big crowd representative not only of the Catholic but other communities, was at the wharf to applaud the Bishop as he walked toward Belleville Street.

Canada's Youngest Bishop Is Welcomed

Impressive Rites Mark Installation of Bishop At Catholic Cathedral

Most Rev. John C. Cody, D.D., Is Youngest Prelate in Canada

MANY DISTINGUISHED VISITING CLERGY HERE

Victoria's Catholic community last evening for the third time in less than seven years witnessed the impressive and solemn ecclesiastical ceremonies associated with the installation of a new bishop, in this instance the Most Reverend John C. Cody, D.D., youngest bishop in Canada, and twelfth bishop in the ninety-year-old diocese of Victoria. St. Andrew's Cathedral, where the ceremony took place, was filled to capacity with devout Catholics and specially-invited distinguished guests of other denominations.

Profoundly dignified, rich in spiritual symbolism, the rites, prescribed since medieval times for such occasions, with their pomp and circumstance, color and movement, concluded the heavy formal programme carried through by Bishop Cody following his arrival by the afternoon boat from Vancouver.

GREAT CONCOURSE

Hundreds gathered at the intersection of View and Blanshard Streets to witness the pageantry of the procession which preceded the installation ceremonies. The rites proper began promptly at 8:15 o'clock with the reception of the new bishop at the door of the Cathedral.

King's Birthday to Be Celebrated in Canada on June 9

OTTAWA, April 7 (P).—The birthday of George VI will be celebrated in Canada, as in Britain, on June 9, the Governor-General-in-Council has decided. Word to that effect was communicated to the Lieutenant-Governors of the provinces today.

While His Majesty was born on December 14, the example of his grandfather, Edward VII, is being followed by celebrating the monarch's birthday in the Summer season, even where it occurs in Winter, so that the public may better enjoy the holiday. The birthdays of the last two monarchs, George V and Edward VIII, were celebrated on their natal days, June 3 and June 23, respectively.

Bank of Canada Finds Prairie Province Does Not Require Financial Assistance—Position Does Not Compare With Saskatchewan and Manitoba—Regrets Repudiatory Tactics

OTTAWA, April 7 (P).—Alberta does not require temporary financial assistance from the Dominion, pending the findings of the Royal Commission on taxation, the Federal Government was advised tonight in a report from the Bank of Canada, tabled in the House of Commons by Finance Minister Charles Dunning.

TWO KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

Brother and Sister Meet Death When Flying to Bedside of Ill Father

PASCO, Wash., April 7 (P).—Flying to the bedside of their ill father in Viola, Idaho, a brother and sister were killed near here today when their airplane crashed and buried itself nearly three feet in the earth.

The dead are Spencer Gray, forty-two, Seattle attorney, and Mrs. Evans V. Bunker, thirty, wife of a Seattle attorney.

Witnesses to the crash said the plane had been circling Pasco for twenty minutes with its motor sputtering. The ship apparently side-slipped. Both wings were torn from the fuselage.

JAPANESE PILOTS KILLED

TOKIO, April 7 (P).—Two Japanese naval pilots were killed today when their scouting plane fell apart in mid-air and plunged into the sea near the Yokosuka naval base.

PROTESTS BRING EXEMPTION OF LOG BOOMS FROM HARBOR DUES

Hedley Report Will Be Given Out by Premier

RELEASE of the interim report on Hedley Annals, slated at noon today was promised yesterday by Premier Pattullo, in his capacity as Attorney-General. The report, now in the Government's hands from G. L. Fraser, commissioner under the British Columbia Securities Act, and containing thirty pages, will be handed to the press today, the Premier said.

SIT-DOWNERS VANQUISHED

Thousand Strikers Driven From Factory by Farmers And Loyal Workers

HERSHEY, Pa., April 7 (P).—Several thousand angry farmers and "loyal" men and women workers of the Hershey Chocolate Corporation drove more than 1,000 sit-down strikers from the vine-covered factory today after bloody battle.

Twenty-five combatants were attended at a hospital. Nearly as many more were less seriously hurt. Most of the victims had battered heads and fractured arms or legs.

Several times the rioting spread to the broad lawns, where both sides gained recruits from the thousands of onlookers who blocked all traffic and shouted encouragement to those battling on the inside.

FARMERS TAKE HAND

The picturesque little town, which the multi-millionaire, Milton S. Hershey, envisioned as a poor farm boy and which he built in the cornfields near his birthplace, looked on as farmers from six counties joined the non-strikers in a mass meeting in the big sports arena Hershey built for his United States Eastern Amateur Hockey League club.

These farmers joined the non-strikers in demonstrations on Monday and Tuesday, protesting against the sit-down, because they supply the factory with 800,000 pounds of milk daily. Their market was cut off by the strike.

NAMED GOVERNOR OF NOVA SCOTIA

Robert Irwin, of Shelburne, Chosen To Succeed Hon. Walter Covert in May

OTTAWA, April 7 (P).—Robert Irwin, lumberman, of Shelburne, N.S., has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced tonight. He succeeds Hon. Walter Covert, appointed in 1931, and will assume office on May 1.

Mr. Irwin entered the Nova Scotia Legislature in 1906 as the member for Shelburne County, which he continued to represent until 1925. From 1917 until 1925 he was Speaker of the Legislative Assembly. For the past three years, Mr. Irwin has served as a member of the Old Age Pensions Board of Nova Scotia.

Conservative Chief Critical of Regime Of Brain Trusters

Dr. F. P. Patterson Flays Liberal Government for Extravagance and Waste at Kelowna Nominating Convention—Attacks Coal Commission

KELOWNA, April 7.—At a party convention here today that selected T. G. Norris, K.C., as Conservative candidate for South Okanagan, Dr. F. P. Patterson, leader of the party, vigorously assailed the waste, extravagance and dilatory character of the Pattullo administration.

"You have had three and a half years of costly experimenting with your affairs," he declared amid applause, "of high-priced brain-trusters and scientific theorists and of narrow-minded demagogues—and what have you to show for it all?"

"I will tell you," he said, answering his own query. "And it is the loss of the Government—you have paid, during the past two years, the highest price ever paid by British Columbia for government. The rev-

Federal Minister of Transport Also Announces Reduction of Rates On Ships Calling at Ports to Load Bunker Coal With Maximum of $30 a Call

Committee Asks Suspension Of Other Sections of Order

OTTAWA, April 7 (P).—Two changes in the rates for public harbors which came into effect on April 1 have been made at the request of British Columbia shipping and industrial interests, Transport Minister C. D. Howe stated today. The modifications were exemption of log booms on which harbor dues were formerly collectable, subject to the proviso that vessels towing logs will pay ordinary dues, and reduction to one-quarter cent per ton, or a maximum of $30 per call, on vessels calling at ports to load bunker coal only.

Before April 1 harbor dues were charged on a group-tonnage basis, ranging from fifty cents to $7, according to tonnage group, collectable not more than twice yearly. That system was eliminated April 1, with a new schedule operated on the net-registered tonnage basis.

Now vessels sailing from a North American port to a Canadian port pay two cents a ton on their net registered tonnage. Vessels sailing from other ports to Canadian ports pay four cents a ton. These rates apply only to public harbors, not those under any harbor commission.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 7 (P).—Officials from Florida's soggy vegetable bowl gathered here yesterday to decide whether an appeal should be made for Red Cross assistance.

A severe hour cloudburst on Monday destroyed Winter crops, worth an estimated $3,000,000 and stranded hundreds of itinerant workers who had flocked into Lake Okechobee's mucklands to lend a hand in the harvest.

ARRANGEMENTS ARE CONCLUDED

British and American Airways Soon to Start Trans-Atlantic Service

WASHINGTON, April 7 (P).—The United States completed arrangements today with three English-speaking nations for commercial air service across the Atlantic Ocean.

J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of the Commerce Department, said agreement had been reached in Canada, Ireland and Great Britain under which giant flying boats will speed passengers and mail between New York and London, with stopovers in Canada and Ireland.

IN SHORT TIME

Johnson said experimental flights probably will be started in a very short time by British Imperial Airways and Pan-American Airways. Mail carrying may begin this Summer, with passengers accepted later.

With New York and London as terminals, the trans-Atlantic ships will make stops in Ireland and at Botwood, Newfoundland, near St. John's. Between Newfoundland and New York two routes have been arranged—one via Montreal and one via Shediac, New Brunswick.

In Winter months, a southern route would be followed, planes touching Bermuda and the Azores.

ARMY PLANE CRASHES

GALVESTON, Texas, April 7 (P).—A United States army plane towing a target for gunnery practice crashed into the Gulf of Mexico today and a radio report from an aerial observer said the pilot, Second Lieut. A. E. Livingston, apparently was killed. Livingston was flying alone.

The two officers set out to hunt two bandits who robbed Mrs. Emma Carter, South Bend, of $120 in currency and bond coupons about 2:30 a.m. first binding and gagging her in her home.

TO CUT PRIVATE DEBTS IN HALF

Alberta Government Introduces Legislation to Reduce Debts Contracted Before July, 1932

EDMONTON, April 7 (P).—Drafted to replace the Alberta Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act of 1936, declared unconstitutional by the courts, a new Social Credit debt law was introduced in the Legislature today.

The new legislation, introduced by Municipal Minister Lucien Maynard and given first reading, provides for a 50 per cent reduction in principal on all private debts contracted before July 1, 1932. Interest rates are not changed.

On the old debt, payment is to be made in ten equal instalments, starting November 15, 1937. Provision is made for a debtor to pay off the whole debt at any time desired.

COUNCIL IS TO ORGANIZE TRADES HERE

Labor Group Plans to Select Paid Organizer Next Wednesday

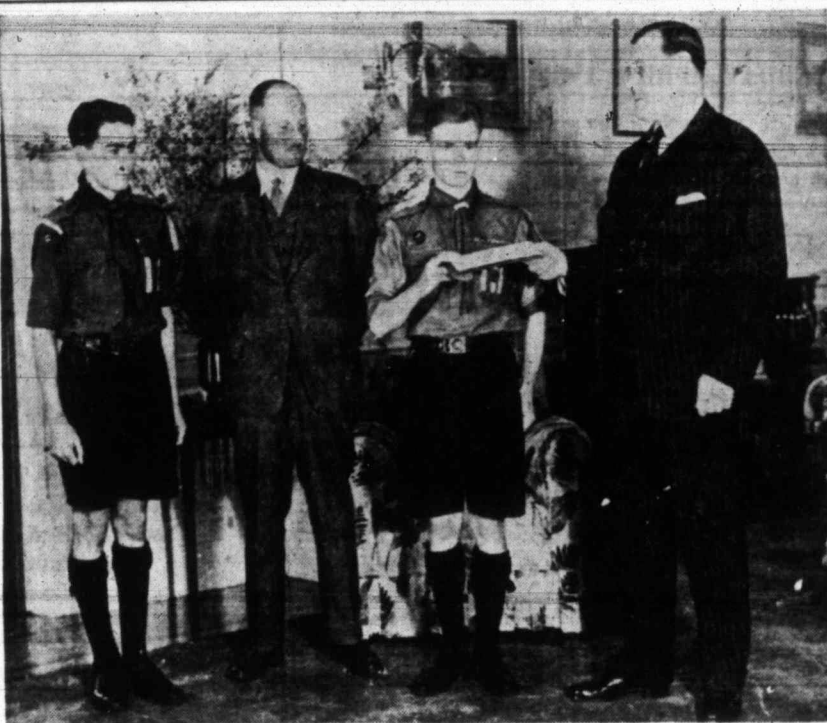

MAY MEAN MORE PAY TO THOSE AFFECTED

An attempt will be made to organize plumbers, steamfitters, lathers, butchers, moulders, painters, bartenders, restaurant workers, and other unorganized trades, Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council decided last evening. It is successful, it will probably mean more pay and shorter hours for members of the trades affected.

All trades represented in the council were requested to turn in names to the executive committee by next Wednesday, when an organizer will be appointed by secret ballot. The man selected will be paid $5 per day for eight hours' work and will be given employment for three weeks at the outset.

It was announced at the council meeting that sawmill workers had received a charter and planned to affiliate with the council. Sheet metal workers were also organizing. Upon learning that painters had asked the Industrial Relations Board to make permits necessary

Scouts to Bear Message of Good Will

Hon. Eric W. Hamber, Lieutenant-Governor, is shown presenting the letter of good will from Premier T. D. Pattullo to President Roosevelt, to Arthur Freeman, troop leader of the First Cowichan Troop, who will deliver it to the President in Washington, D.C., when the scouts conclude their cycle trip across the continent. Freeman's companion is Philip LaFortune, patrol leader of the troop, who will also make the long trip. Shown with the boys and Mr. Hamber is Major J. Wise, district commissioner of the Boy Scouts' Association here.

May Apply the Island Test to All Candidates

CITY Conservatives may apply the Island test to all candidates running in the coming provincial election. It developed last evening at a meeting of the central executive of the Victoria Conservative Association. Reginald Hayward, denying that he had any intention of standing himself, said all candidates nominated in the city or on the Island should be pledged clearly in advance to support reasonable treatment for Vancouver Island in provincial matters. The suggestion was well received.

from editorial comment except on the case of Arthur Koestler, London News-Chronicle correspondent, reported under arrest at insurgent Malaga.

The News-Chronicle said Koestler, who is not a British citizen, was bound hand and foot to a plank and placed in solitary confinement.

A MAJOR VICTORY

MADRID, April 7 (P)—Government militia scored a major victory on the Cordoba front today, reports from the salient 170 miles south of Madrid indicated. The attack carried them to the heights of Mount Chimorra, part of the range rising above the Cordoba-Penarroya highway.

Government reports said insurgents were in flight from Villaharta, and that quantities of war supplies had been captured in the Government advance, including three German-made tanks.

On Madrid's immediate front, insurgents pushed from their trenches in the El Pardo sector near the Northwest Coruna highway but were forced back.

Government troops also attacked in Avila Province, west of Madrid, and fought their way to near Cebreros, an important point on a direct road to the city of Avila.

SMASH THROUGH PASSES

VICTORIA, Spain, April 7 (CP-Havas)—Insurgent troops, spurred by a visit from General Francisco Franco himself, smashed through mountain passes towards Bilbao tonight amid some of the bitterest fighting of the civil war.

The insurgent commander made a flying inspection of his front lines in the Basque country yesterday.

Government troops taken prisoner were quoted as declaring only a "miracle" can save Bilbao. The same sources revealed the towns of Durango and Elbar, in the path of the insurgent advance, have been evacuated.

FIND WRECKAGE IN DEEP SNOW

Search Reveals Ghastly Evidence of Liner's Crash—Eight Bodies Found

MENARY, Ariz., April 7 (P)—A toll-torn searching party trudged out of the mountain wilderness tonight after reaching the broken and burned bodies of eight persons who were carried to their deaths when a luxurious Douglas air liner crashed in a snowstorm on Saturday afternoon.

The bodies of the victims were left behind. Snow in the vicinity was so deep the searchers said it was impossible to bring them out tonight.

IDENTIFICATION IMPOSSIBLE

Two of the bodies, one of an older man, were thrown clear of the twisted wreckage. The other six were burned so badly that identification was impossible.

The bodies of Pilot Glen Moser and the co-pilot, Joe Wolfolk, were still strapped in their seats. They were about half-burned. Bodies of the other four victims were beneath the charred wreckage.

The twenty-one-passenger transport, which was being ferried across country from Burbank, Cal., to New York City, crashed into the mountain almost head-on.

temporary assistance for both Manitoba and Saskatchewan because different conditions were found. It is expected the appropriations will be included in supplementary estimates to be introduced before the session closes.

A 50 per cent cut in interest rates, which went into effect June 1, 1936, was the main reason why the bank recommended no assistance. The report expressed regret at the repudiatory tactics, but found they placed Alberta in a budgetary position where it could continue without help from Ottawa.

REEVE CROUCH AGAIN HEADS PARKS GROUP

Victoria-Saanich Organization Makes Annual Tour—Luncheon at Benvenuto

LIST OF WORK FOR YEAR IS OUTLINED

Reeve William Crouch was reappointed chairman; R. R. F. Sewell, treasurer, and John Baxter, secretary of Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee during the annual meeting held yesterday at "Benvenuto" the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart. Edwin Tomlin presided at a luncheon held there.

Members of the committee and others making a tour of inspection of parks and beaches were: Mayor Andrew McGavin, Alderman John A. Worthington, John Baxter, W. H. Warren (city parks superintendent), Reeve William Crouch, Councilors L. C. Hagan, A. G. Lambbrick and John Oliver, H. H. Allan (Saanich engineer) and R. R. F. Sewell (municipal clerk).

It was unanimously agreed that representatives of the city and surrounding municipalities would pay a formal call upon Mr. and Mrs. Butchart on their return to the city to extend heartfelt thanks for all they have done for Greater Victoria. A presentation will be made to Mrs. Butchart.

WORK PLANNED

The following work will be undertaken by Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee this year:

George Park, new float, work on paths, improvements to diving float, $275; Mount Tolmie, improve road, clear out broom, erect concrete tables for picnickers, $200; Cadboro Bay, clean beach, $150; Cordova Bay, boathouse and public convenience work, $125; Island View Beach, new swing, plant shade trees, $125; Verdier Park, clean up, $30; Beaver Lake, repairs and improvements to track, $150; Memorial Avenue, maintenance, $150; Benvenuto Avenue, maintenance, $250; beach patrols and lifeguards at beaches and lakes, $500; Mount Douglas Park, tearoom improvements and public facilities, $700.

CRITICAL OF REGIME OF BRAIN TRUSTERS

enterprise?—and yet you are paying millions more in the treasury." The Conservative leader criticized the futile and costly practice of the Pattullo administration in largely conducting public business through the medium of expensive commissions. During 1935 and 1936, he declared eleven inquiries or investigations were under way at the same time.

COAL INQUIRY

Turning his attention to the long-enduring coal commission, Dr. Patterson pointed out that it was more than two years since this inquiry was launched. If it had accomplished anything the result was being kept a dark secret from the public. Even the cost of this inquiry was shrouded in mystery, although it was estimated that more than $70,000 had been expended so far.

The only reasons that he could ascribe to the delay in making the result of the commission's work public were either that it would necessitate action detrimental to friends of the Government, or that it had been instituted in an effort to hoodwink coal miners into believing that the Government was trying to do something for them. "Is it because the report possesses political value in secret that it would lose in public?" he demanded.

Four Nationalities Give Viewpoints on Theatre and Drama

Canadian, American, French and Austrian Speakers Heard at Initial Meeting of Drama Congress—Hollywood Critical of Little Theatre

CANADIAN, American, French and Austrian viewpoints upon theatre and the drama were discussed at the Empress Hotel last evening, when the initial session of the Pacific Drama Conference was held under the chairmanship of Dr. T. A. Rickard.

In a fascinating study of "The Evolution of the Theatre of France From Now Till Then," Madame Sanderson-Mongin, of Victoria College, described the early Gallic meane, and traced the descent of the great writers and the part they played in French letters. Moliere, Beaumarchais, Corneille, Hardy, Racine and Victor Hugo were each alluded to by the speaker, in an address, warmly received.

HIS BACKACHE WAS UNBEARABLE

Kruschen Brought Him Relief From Pain

This man of 31 was prematurely aged by backache, when he should have been enjoying the best years of his life. Here he tells how Kruschen helped to restore him to health, after months of pain:—

"I was in hospital for ten weeks, owing to kidney trouble. When I was discharged I felt like an old man, although I am only 31. If I stooped to do anything it was agony to straighten up again. Several people advised me to try Kruschen Salts. I tried them and found they gave me relief from pain and I felt better in every way. I cycle 28 miles a day to and from work, and shall keep up the daily dose of Kruschen because I can now do the journey to and from work and not feel any the worse for it."—S.V.C.

When the internal organs cease to do their work properly, impurities begin to accumulate in the system, and cause troublesome symptoms. Kruschen Salts help to stimulate the liver and excretory organs to healthy, regular activity, and thus assist them to rid the system of harmful impurities.

New Bishop of Victoria Reaches City

A busy afternoon awaited Most Rev. John C. Cody, D.D., on his arrival in his diocese here yesterday afternoon. Disembarking from the Ss. Princess Charlotte, he was informally welcomed at the C.P.R. Wharf by about thirty clergy and a throng of cheering laymen. Driving direct to the Bishop's Palace, View Street, where another small crowd applauded him, he later left for Government House to pay a formal call on His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, and at 6 o'clock attended a private dinner at the Empress Hotel, at which about sixty visiting and diocesan clergy were present. In the above photograph, taken as he was leaving the boat, Bishop Cody is the central figure in a group which contains, reading from left to right: Abbot Lambert Burton, O.S.B., of Lacey, Wash.; Very Rev. R. Beaton, administrator of the diocese; Hon. John Hart, representing the Government of British Columbia; Archbishop William Mark Duke, Vancouver; Bishop J. C. Cody, Victoria; Bishop Coadjutor Condert, O.M.I., Prince Rupert, and Bishop Bunoz, O.M.I., Prince Rupert.

"gave the drama an intellectual quality." An analytical dissertation on "The Problems of Playwriting," illustrated by several personal experiences, was submitted by Mrs. Muriel Wamaker of Seattle.

HOLLYWOOD TERRIFIES

"When our best playwrights are bought by the movies, surely we are lacking in mass education," declared Miss Margaret W. Stevenson, of the staff of the Wenatchee High School, speaking on "Drama in the High Schools." She declared she was terrified at the domination of Hollywood in American life, and hoped that the theatre would come back to the people.

The Portland Olive Theatre had been instituted to promote the education and the culture of the people, Miss Dorothy Clifford, of that city, asserted. She described the Civic Theatre School that had been started to look after those interested in the drama, and mentioned the fact that university credit was now given students taking these classes.

MOST SARDONIC WRITER

Edward Frederick Chester, self-admittedly "the most sardonic writer in Hollywood," speaking on "The Little Theatre From a Professional Angle," maintained that the Little Theatre would not succeed until it had new plots, new writers, and experienced directors. "If a play or a picture is not entertaining," he

Clean-Up Campaign

It takes effort to maintain the slogan "Victoria, the Beautiful." Part of that effort is finding expression this week in the Clean-Up, Paint-Up Campaign sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and co-operated in by many organizations of the city.

Two days of the drive remain, and in that time it is hoped that special efforts will be made to complete the mission of the campaign. Casual jobs provided during the week have been greatly appreciated, officials of the Employment Service of Canada said yesterday, and many more are needed. Efficient help may be secured through the bureau, whose telephone is G 4241 and Empire 1931.

declared, "it does not justify its existence. The Little Theatre should always remember what Hollywood has paid millions of dollars to find out—the general public has an intellectual capacity of a child, twelve years of age. It is wise to give them what they want."

Visitors were welcomed to this city by Mayor Andrew McGavin. "The same common tongue, and the same common interests make us

LOG BOOMS EXEMPT FROM HARBOR DUES

review of the new regulations, published in The Canada Gazette of March 27 and effecting a drastic increase in public ports dues, "indicates the desirability of some revision."

Mr. Howe's telegram was received by Mr. Hamilton shortly after the exchange secretary and S. S. McKee, M.P.P., had discussed the increased harbor scale with the minister by long-distance telephone.

TELEPHONE CONVERSATION

In the telephone conversation, Mr. Howe said the Department of Transport had "no intention to levy charges that would damage industries or ports in British Columbia," and that he would order immediate suspension of the order in council to allow time to redraft the regulations.

Ports affected by the new scale were Victoria, Alberni, Chemainus, Comox, Ladysmith, Nanaimo, Gibsons' Landing, Squamish, Ocean Falls, Powell River and Prince Rupert.

Members of the twelve-man committee appointed at an emergency meeting called by the Merchants' Exchange, Tuesday, to draft a formal protest against the regulations, met here late today and prepared a brief that will be mailed tonight to the minister.

In the brief, the committee thanked Mr. Howe for his prompt action in exempting log booms from the new scale and reducing coal bunkering charges.

ASK FURTHER MODIFICATION

Members appealed to the minister to suspend other sections of the order-in-council until negotiations between British Columbia interests and Ottawa were completed.

Members of the committee told the Canadian Press the new instructions from Mr. Howe would result in saving of roughly $500,000 to the lumber industry and at least $50,000 to paper-making interests. "Almost certain annual loss of 25,000 tons of export coal shipments would be averted," they said.

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

"Naturally we are gratified at the prompt action of the Dominion Government in suspending increased harbor rates until such time as a proper investigation can be made," said Harold Husband, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, when advised of Federal action last evening. "We shall watch the situation closely, so that any revision and its effect on Victoria interests may be given full consideration before any enforcement is made."

His sentiments were echoed by George I. Warren, secretary of the chamber, who, with other members of the executive, led the fight for immediate reduction, once the scale had been made known by The Colonist.

"The increased dues should never have been placed," he said. "The Government now recognizes the peculiar condition of Victoria as a port of call for many lines. The decision of the Federal authorities is decidedly encouraging to businessmen of this city."

Harbor masters, it is declared, are allowed a certain proportion out of the fees collected. The balance is used for the upkeep of harbors and Federal work along the Coast, a cost greatly in excess of dues charged, it is said.

PARTY AT METCHOSIN

A bridge party was held at "La-morna," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Milne, in aid of the Vancouver Island association. There were seven tables, and prizes were won as follows: Ladies, first, Miss Margaret Holden; gentlemen, first, Mr. J. B. Edwards; consolation, Miss Milne and Mr. E. P. Ash. Captain R. S. Johnson gave a short talk at the conclusion of the card playing.

ASSISTED BY ACCOMPLICE

Escaped Men Must Have Had Inside Help, Asserts Oakalla Warden

VANCOUVER, April 7 (C.P.).—Warden Walter Owen, of Oakalla Prison, said tonight an accomplice inside the jail must have helped Gordon Fawcett and Vernon Campbell in their successful break for freedom early Sunday evening.

Meanwhile the search for the fugitives continued over the entire Lower Mainland of British Columbia and into Washington State, where a stolen British Columbia automobile was recovered Monday. Police believed Fawcett and Campbell might have used the car in their getaway.

PRIVATE INQUIRY

At Oakalla Prison, officials prepared for a private inquiry into the jailbreak. Col. J. H. McMullin, commissioner of Provincial Police, arrived in Vancouver today to preside at the investigation.

Warden Owen said preliminary investigation had already disclosed inside help must have been afforded the jailbreakers as they fled from their third-tier cells in the south wing of the jail to the execution room where they cut a steel bar and dropped to the ground.

PADLOCK ON OUTSIDE

Owen said a wooden door leading to the execution room had been padlocked on the outside after the break was made. While the lock could have been "picked" by either Fawcett or Campbell to gain entry to the room, it was humanly impossible for either of the fugitives to have locked it again from inside.

An accomplice, however, could have snapped the padlock back into place without a key once the two men had gone through and the wooden door closed, Owen said.

A PROVINCIAL ELECTION

The only reason for an election in British Columbia during the next few months is that of political strategy of the party in power. There is no public demand for it; on the contrary, because of the unsettling effect of an appeal to the people, when economic conditions show a disposition to right themselves, an election is a disturbance that could, under the circumstances in this Province, have been postponed. However, Mr. T. D. Pattullo is the arbiter in the situation, and he considers the time opportune for his political fortunes: he sees the forces arrayed against him expounding rival policies; he believes that the vote will be so split up because of so many parties in the field that the Liberals, well organized and fully equipped with campaign funds, should be easy victors at the polls.

Present indications are that the campaign will be unduly prolonged, though why it is impossible to say. There is little to tell the people that they do not know, and they could vote with as full knowledge tomorrow as they will in June. If there is anything new to be known it is what is to be done about compulsory health insurance, a matter which should have been settled long ago instead of continuing in abeyance while a Commission for its enforcement enjoys a sinecure at the expense of the taxpayers. There will, no doubt, be a multiplicity of tangled issues before the people, because of which they will be bemused through inability to think clearly. Voting strength will be dissipated as never before in this Province. It will be impossible to get a clear verdict from a majority of the people.

Politics in the public mind were never such a matter of cross purposes as they are at present. That is a pity, for such a condition in what is called public opinion militates against progress, and in the past, and so in the present, what a majority of the people are concerned with is how British Columbia may be made a better place in which to live. Under what laws affecting the development of its natural resources will there be economic prosperity; what programme will provide work and wages; how can balanced budgets be effected? There are, of course, other issues, and among them that of cutting down the overhead of government and a consequent reduction in taxation. At present government here is a most costly institution, altogether out of proportion to the population it serves. There is a surplussage of officialdom. There are wasteful expenditures on every hand. These are really the issues in which the public should interest themselves, for they have much to do with economic well-being. Unfortunately it has been the custom of all parties, and more especially of those newly formed as an outcome of mental unrest, to draw red herrings across the trail of economy.

The Government, during the coming campaign, will be on the defensive, because it failed to implement the policy on which it was elected to power. It has not provided work and wages in any wide sense for the people of British Columbia. It has not reduced, but increased, the expenses of administration. It has done so wholly out of proportion to whatever increase in population there has been during its term of office. It has set up costly bureaux which have added to overhead expenses. Whatever economic development there has been is in spite of and not because of provincial legislation, and due solely to general world recovery. The Government had no responsibility whatever in raising the price of base metals which has led to greater mineral production. It had no part whatever in creating a greater demand for British Columbia's lumber and other products. These things were due to recovery elsewhere in which British Columbia logically shared, wholly irrespective of provincial administration. Where the Province could have helped was in reduced taxation, and that would have been the only substantial way. It has not done this. Taxation remains oppressive and continues to be the greatest handicap that rests upon the development of the natural resources of the Province.

What then is the issue above all others that should concern the taxpayers of British Columbia? It is that of a business-like administration that will not, by costly experiments, attempt to do the impossible for a population of 700,000 persons. It is that of an administration that will sponsor the reduction of the personnel of the Legislature in a substantial way; that will have fewer Cabinet Ministers; that will wipe out bureaucratic frills; that will not attempt to emulate the example of countries far wealthier, in a taxpaying sense, than this Province; that will introduce the principles of ordinary common sense that would apply to any business venture. The machinery of government for a people, equal in number only to that of a fair-sized city, is now cumbersome, intricate, over-burdening and wasteful in most of its energies. That is why taxation is what it is and why the burden the people have to bear acts in a deleterious way in their material advancement. It is the question of the expense of government, more than anything else, that should be the issue of a political campaign in British Columbia. Is there any party in the field that will realize this and make its campaign accordingly?

HOME RULE IN INDIA

The measure of home rule decided upon for India after many months of consultation was given effect in recent elections to Provincial Legislatures. The Congress Party secured a dominant lead in six of the eleven provinces, and a strong influence in three others. Now that party refuses to take office, that is to form governments in the provinces it controls, and the whole question of home rule is thrown into the melting pot. The majority of the elected representatives are on strike. The British Government in the country faces a new crisis. The boycott, as it should be called more properly, bids fair to wreck the new constitution.

It is possible yet that the Congress Party will reconsider its decision. It may ultimately accept office in the provinces it controls, push through its social reform measures and place upon the governors of those provinces the onus of vetoing any or all of the legislation passed. Such rejection would aggravate the menace to peace. In the meantime pour parlers are in progress and an effort is being made to get the more conservative wing of the Congress Party to persuade the rest to give the new constitution a trial. That party is by no means wholly in favor of the subversive tactics of such agitators as Gandhi and Pandit Nehru. It has its elements who know that if the British Government has to take firm action to meet a revolutionary movement it will triumph and the breach between Moslem and Hindu India will be widened.

It was known from the beginning that the task of giving India home rule was one that could not be accomplished in a few years. The difficulties are tremendous in a land with a population of hundreds of millions, with so many different sects and castes, with varying languages, with different political aspirations and different social outlooks. Moreover, the vast proportion of the population is illiterate. The measure of home rule given has intensified agitation. Great Britain in India has again a major crisis on her hands.

"STOOL PIGEONS"

Alberta has set a standard of conduct to the country as a whole by its Legislature refusing to allow municipal constables who act as "informers," or "stool pigeons," immunity in the courts. Such legislation was asked for by temperance and other organizations of a character that would be least expected to advocate violation of the law. When an "informer," by virtue of wearing a uniform indulges in a crime in order that he may catch criminals, he has himself committed a crime and should be subject to the law. It is all wrong in all ethical practice to give members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police immunity from prosecution where they act as "informers" or "stool pigeons" in liquor cases. It is a principle diametrically opposed to the common cause of justice. The Alberta Legislature has opposed a proposed immoral act. No Legislature which is seized with its responsibilities to the public could do otherwise.

The term "Social Constructives," applied to a new political party in this Province, is wrong. The word "constructive" is an adjective, not a noun. In the interests of accuracy and as an example to the young of the correct use of English may it be suggested to Mr. Robert Connell that he dub his following "Social Constructivists." There is enough loose English at large without looseness being manufactured by political leaders.

The only immigration policy that pays is to make a country prosperous enough and solid enough to attract emigrants.

WIND IN THE LEAVES

The wind spoke gravely
In the tall boughs of pine:
"I have seen in a far country
An anciently-holy shrine—
Carved with the winged glories of heaven,
And plated with bright plaques of pale gold:
I have seen in a far country
A shrine beautiful to behold."

The wind spoke sadly
In the long branches of fir:
"I have been up the broad river,
Where once my forests of aspen were:
Before the mad anger of my gales
Were splashed with splendor of the morning—
With a silver sheen of sails."

The wind spoke calmly
In the green leaves of the plane:
"All that is of man passes;
The things that are of God remain.
I have known strength, I have known beauty,
But nothing strong and fair as these:
Dark jade, bitter beryl, burning emerald
Of the tall towers of the trees."

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

Do not answer aloud but quietly to yourself, do you ever feel despondent? You do; that's fine. There is hope for you. You may even be brilliant. A professor in one of the alphabetical agencies which is keel-hauling humanity, in a country that need not be specified, has worked out a test of one hundred questions to put to other people, as a result of which he is able to state, or at least he does state to the I.Q. of the examined persons is thus and so. Now, entirely unexpectedly, very bright students selected from very bright colleges, answered that questionnaire precisely as did another batch of students considered only average in their mental powers. That was a bit of a blow to the quizzers; but you must take the rough with the smooth in this business of research in the humanities. More of the bright pupils than the normal children replied affirmatively to the following question; but you can, privately, examine your own status yourself.

Here are the questions: Do you become upset when scolded for a mistake? Do you spend all your money, saving none? Are you slow in making up your mind? Do you at times feel happy, or sad, without knowing why? Do you sometimes do things against your will? Do you eat too much and too often? Do you sometimes imagine yourself to be a very great person? Are you unable to fall asleep because of some thought? Do you have habits of which you feel ashamed? Do you feel that you have no real friends? Do you sometimes think you are good for nothing? Do you sometimes lose control of yourself? Do you do things on the spur of the moment, and then regret them? Are you usually late? Do you let your mind wander, and forget what you were doing or saying? Do you sometimes feel that nobody loves you? Do you make up stories? Do you always get yourself into trouble? Do you sometimes feel very wicked and sinful? Are you annoyed when people ask you questions about yourself? (That's one rubbing it in a bit, isn't it?)

I hesitate to disclose the result of my examination of myself in this cruel test. Though poor at cross-word puzzles, I should have no difficulty at all in replying to these questions with a three-letter word implying the reverse of what the doctors told the health insurance commission quite recently. However, I am not despondent. No, sir, I feel that if circumstances ever should arise where nobody loved me, and everyone looked at my waistline with ill-concealed expressions of horror, I could always emigrate. Indeed, I know that if I moved across the block, I would find a new environment; that if I moved to another part of the city, I should find a whole new town; and that if I moved across the Gulf or the Straits, I would be in a different country altogether. At the worst, I could return to a certain land where I.Q.'s have not yet penetrated deeply enough to make people self-conscious. However, I shall not move, not one particle. I am going to fight it out on this line if it takes the rest of my natural, and sub-normal, life. When I feel despondent hereafter, I shall immediately say to myself: Boy, is your I.Q. cute!

Perhaps the real trouble with the world, at that, is that too many people are thinking about themselves, and too little about others. If theorists can make a statesman out of a brain trustor by executive order; a dull scholar out of a bright one by I.Q. tests; and a layman learned-in-the-law by act of Parliament, they can perform more miracles than the world has seen for quite a few years. The theorists look at a hundred answer papers, and from that attempt to say that all humanity is built this way or that. Experience, however, teaches that no two human beings are made alike; that each has a separate and distinct identity; and that mortal man has not yet been born who could predict with certainty what even ten people would do in the course of the next ten months. Don't let anyone tell you or your children that the I.Q.'s have it in for you. If you can live at all in the world during this year of grace, 1937, you and your children are downright smart! I am hoping you will be smart enough to put the I.Q.'s into the wastepaper basket where they belong. Indeed, as a public I am betting on you!

It is a good-sized room, with a nice carpet and nice furniture, a polished table, a couch, a settee, two easy chairs, some small chairs, a beautiful radio and a bookcase full of books. What more could an old lady desire?

When I went in last night they were discussing Mrs. McAllister's letter with indignation.

Until recently the room was longer than wide, but on account of overcrowding, one end is now screened off for beds, leaving the sitting-room about square.

With reference to the notice on the wall in the hall, "Patients Must Not Visit Without Permission," I believe that hangs there to be enforced when necessary, for usually no one bothers about it.

It is not right to condemn without first investigating.

We see by your paper that the hospital authorities are at their wits' end to provide room for the patients because they cannot get money to enlarge the building. Some time ago I saw a patient in bed in the corridor of the Annex.

I should think those who can walk around a wide comfortable seat like a park seat built all round the veranda, but it seems the hospital authorities are doing all they can, and more.

Also, I should think those who have no income would appreciate two dollars a month for stationery, etc., as is given to non-pensioners in the Old Men's Home through the kindness of those who subscribe to the Fred Landsberg Fund.

It is a pity that beds have to be so close to the radio, because it cannot always be turned on loud enough for others to hear.

By E. BANNERMAN CAMPBELL

Life is surprising; one never knows just what to look for under the next corner. Teeming with unexpected possibilities it keeps one alive, interested, alert.

When a friend invited the writer to hear a young musician of Victoria, Catherine Craig, the "unexpected" developed rapidly into more than several moments upon which one might write that rarely deserved word, "perfect!"

Even in an age when versatility is almost a commonplace, it was amazing to come upon one of our own people who proved her artistry in four well-defined branches.

Her first song group was delightful, but the unexpected number (not on the programme but given as an encore for her Scotch friends), "O Whistle and I'll Come to You, My Lad," was perfect.

Just how many interpretations the charming old song has had since 1793 would be impossible to tell, but we can safely say it has never had a more sympathetic one.

All its lilting youth and gay wit, just the correct Scotch intonation and accent, came over the footlights to those fortunate enough to hear it. The young artist was the embodiment of that Scotch laird in love with life's Springtime and her laddie.

The piano group was surprisingly good, perhaps the three moderns more in her "tempo" than Mendelssohn and Schumann, but all played with musically feeling and fine depth of tone.

The group with her own accompaniment was well chosen and rarely interesting (though in the eternal fitness of things "Sylvia" is a man's song).

We were all thrilled with "Christopher Robin Saying His Prayers." Her fourth group (elocution)—Shakespeare, Macbeth, the letter scene, the murder scene: One thought with apprehension of youth entangled in that gory declamatory murder. But youth, nothing daunted, took the matter in hand, with no assistance from costume or scenery, and gave a reading remarkable, human, understanding, terrific, agony of remorse, leaving the multitudinous seas uncradled!

The last three numbers of varied interest, sadness and comedy monologue, beautifully balanced, charmingly done. A smile at parting! Her teachers are to be congratulated; but "Ah, my foes, and oh, my friends," what fallow ground for planting!

Let us hope as the future develops that God-given talent, the unspoiled sweetness, refreshing today, may still dwell with Catherine Craig.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: For several years I have followed your column and that of Mrs. Culbertson in the newspapers. It has been my experience that every interesting bid or play which is in any way novel reaches the public first through your hand. For this reason I am taking the liberty of bringing the following hand to your attention with the hope that it may find its way into your column."

"The play involved was beautiful in its simplicity, yet I cannot recall ever seeing it made before. The hero of this hand was my regular partner, Maxwell L. Johnston, a Culbertson teacher, who is well known and highly regarded in Washington."

Routine business at the last Council meeting was proceeding without interruption until City Fathers arrived at a contentious subject.

An alderman rose to give his opinion, but suddenly remembered that he had a splitting headache. Rubbing his hand across his temple, he remarked: "Excuse me, Mr. Mayor. I have a terrible headache."

Quick as a flash another alderman chuckled: "Why don't you try mixing more water with it?" At the ensuing laughter, the alderman with the aching head almost forgot what he was going to say.

Ernest, of Little Saanich Mountain, is perceptibly growing old. But being an old soldier, he denies it strenuously. There is a saying that old soldiers never die. They dry up and blow away. Ernest seldom visits the city, although he possesses a fast automobile always kept in the pink of condition.

On one of infrequent visits to the city he met Aubrey, who invited him to attend a dance at the club. Before Ernest realized what he was doing, he was the owner of four tickets to the affair. He gave one away, and without much difficulty persuaded two girls to accompany him to the dance. Although he is getting a bit stiff to trip the light fantastic, he thought the girls would have a good time while he watched from the sidelines, and then later saw them home after a nice midnight supper.

As Ernest walked up to the ticket to check his hat and trench coat, a young girl forced her way in front of him. In quick succession another followed to elbow Ernest out of the way. They both left him gasping at the wicket. For poor Ernest the evening was spoiled through the lack of manners exhibited by the girls. He has been talking about it ever since. Yes, we think Ernest is getting old.

Pass the Honors On

Now that Premier Pattullo is a "K.C. learned in the law" the Cabinet has two K.C.'s—one, McDonald, who wears his fore; and T. Duffin himself, who wears his aft. It would be a sporty thing for the Premier to resign the Attorney-Generalship just before the election and have the Minister of Agriculture duly appointed to that post; then the bald and bearded Minister would be both fore and aft—K.C. MacDonald, K.C.—a sort of reversible name.—B.A.M.

Sells Street Cars

Since street cars have been abandoned in Ogden, Utah, a pretty young woman, Virginia Carey, has the distinction of selling used trolley cars. They come in two sizes—the larger ones sell for $75 and the smaller for $50, with delivery charges extra. They are sold without wheels, trolleys or any type of motive power, and the purchasers are converting them into garages, chicken coops and canyon cottages.—M.R.

This Loyalty

The other morning, quite early, when all reporters on a morning paper should have been abed, there was an elderly man standing before a picture of Their Majesties and the Princess Elizabeth in a downtown window. That, of course, was not remarkable. The fact that he carried on an audible, one-sided conversation with these mute likenesses of the Royal Family was. He told them he was one of their loyal subjects, and that little Elizabeth was his favorite—a chip of the old block, in whose veins coursed the blood of Edward. He wished His Majesty luck following the Coronation, and made his obeisance to the Queen. Then, picking two bricks from the sidewalk, he tucked them firmly beneath his coat, and walked solemnly away.—B.O.

BAR GOLD AT LONDON
MONTREAL, April 7 (P)—Bar gold in London up one cent at $54.72 an ounce in Canadian funds; 141s 9d in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $34.96 in Canadian funds.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY
(From The Daily Colonist of April 8, 1887)

Marine Notes—The British bark Thomas H. Stowe arrived in London from this port last week. The Cunard liner Pannonia, which sailed from Queenstown on Wednesday for Boston, collided with a fishing smack yesterday off Cape Clear. Two of the occupants of the smack were drowned. The tug Pilot towed the bark Dr. Metzger to Port Townsend on Monday night and returned to port yesterday afternoon. The steamer Metzger will load lumber at Port Blaney for the South Sea Islands. The steamer Victoria, which arrived at New York on Tuesday from Barcelona, brought the captain and crew of nine men off the bark Johanna, which foundered at sea after being out ten days from Havana for New York.

Today's Excursion—This day (Good Friday) will be observed generally throughout the city as a holiday, and should the weather prove favorable a large number will take the opportunity of going out to the country. At 9:30 a.m. the regular train will leave Russell's station for Nanaimo, carrying passengers to points along the line at excursion rates who can return again on the regular train in the evening. The festivities at Nanaimo will be on a big scale, and a good turnout and a very enjoyable day may be expected there.

Baseball Match—A baseball game will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Beacon Hill between the James Bay club and a picked nine.

VANCOUVER, April 7.—The Adriatic Star, the largest seagoing vessel ever built on the British Columbia coast, will be launched at the Boeing shipyards here late on Friday. The vessel is seventy-five feet long, has a twenty-foot beam and is powered with a 160-horsepower Diesel engine. She is owned by Walter Carr and partners.

Two other vessels, both somewhat smaller than the Adriatic Star, will be launched at the same shipyard shortly. One of these is the same length, but has a nineteen-foot beam, while the other is sixty-eight feet long and sixteen feet wide.

Help Kidneys

Don't Take Drastic Drugs.
Your kidneys contain nine million tiny tubes or filters which may be endangered by neglect or drastic irritating drugs. Be careful. If kidney or bladder disorders make you suffer from getting up at night, nervousness, loss of sleep, backache, rheumatism, dizziness, circles under eyes, neuritis, acidity, burning, stinging or itching, you don't need to take chances. All druggists now have the most modern advanced treatment for these troubles. A doctor's prescription called Cystex (Bis-Tek). Works fast—safe and sure. In a few days it brings a feeling of new vitality and will make you feel years younger in one week or money back on return of empty package. Cystex costs only 35¢ a dose at druggists. The money-back agreement protects you. (Adv.)

GOVERNOR WILL TOUR ON COAST

Lord Tweedsmuir Expected To Arrive in British Columbia August 15

His Excellency, Governor-General Tweedsmuir, will make a tour of British Columbia's scenic lake district this summer, arriving on the coast about August 15. It was said yesterday in provincial circles.

Assistant Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons, who has personal knowledge of the region now embraced by Tweedsmuir Park, may be selected to accompany the viceregal party into the area, which includes Ootsa, Butskut and other lakes, between Francois Lake and Bella Coola.

The park was established in 1936 by the British Columbia Government, and contains some magnificent scenery of the Coast Ranges. Lord Tweedsmuir's full itinerary while on the coast has not as yet been learned. It is expected, however, that His Excellency will spend ten days in British Columbia, and part of that time in a tour of the great lake region at the park which bears his name.

CITY CONSERVATIVES READY FOR ELECTION

In Athol, and the anticipated nomination of Captain MacAvoy Macintosh in The Islands were received with interest at the meeting.

PROTEST MADE
The executive went on record as unanimously opposed to the hoisting of port dues at Victoria by Federal action, endorsed the Chamber of Commerce's appeals against that course, and will notify Hon. Dr. S. P. Toimie, M.P., at once of this stand. It was brought out at the meeting that signed applications of eligible voters remaining now in the hands of commissioners are useless, and all persons not already on the provincial voters' list can only get on by personal appearance before the registrar on April 19, as the lists have been closed. This was taken as an additional sign of a sudden election, expected in June.

A scouting committee to interview possible nominees was named as follows: F. G. Mulliner, Hubert Lethaby, F. W. Zeigle, Gordon A. Cameron, Mrs. W. G. M. Rolston, Mrs. W. C. Morley, William Duck, Mrs. P. McCarron and W. H. M. Hal-dane. It will report through the central executive.

Province to Make Health Insurance Declaration Soon

BRITISH Columbia electors may hear what the Provincial Government intends to do about health insurance "towards the end of next week." Premier Pattullo intimated yesterday. The Premier did not amplify his remarks, and left unanswered for the moment speculation as to the possibility of a plebiscite at the time of the provincial general election. The Premier left last evening for Vancouver, where he will spend two days.

possible nominees was named as follows: F. G. Mulliner, Hubert Lethaby, F. W. Zeigle, Gordon A. Cameron, Mrs. W. G. M. Rolston, Mrs. W. C. Morley, William Duck, Mrs. P. McCarron and W. H. M. Hal-dane. It will report through the central executive.

Hodges Cup Golf Will Be Started

Play in the annual knock-out competition for the Hodges Cup will open at the Gorge Vale Golf Club on Saturday and Sunday. All women members are eligible to enter, and after the first match this week-end, players may arrange to play their next match at any time during the following week. Entries should be given to Mrs. H. H. Allen, the captain, not later than Friday, to permit the drawing being made on Friday.

CARPET BOWLING

W. M. Bolton, of the Willows, won the novice singles championship in the carpet bowling tournament in progress at the Foresters' Hall after a very close match over W. Keating, of the Foresters. The score was 21-20.

Colvin and Mrs. Bryant advanced to the finals in the mixed doubles by a win over Thackray and Mrs. Flaherty. The score was 20-13. Edwards entered the finals by winning from A. Stewart, 21-13, in the men's singles.

Draw for today follows:
8:00—Women's singles, final, Mrs. V. Bryant vs. Mrs. J. McMillan. Men's doubles, final, Bryant and Braker vs. Edwards and Coll. Mixed doubles, Bridge and Mrs. Kirchin vs. Nunn and Mrs. Nunn.

City and District

Meeting Tonight—Local No. 101, Truck Drivers and Helpers' Union, will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Trades and Labor Hall.

Express Regret—Regret at the untimely passing of Miss Alexa Russell, for forty years a teacher in city schools, was voiced by the school board Tuesday evening.

Speaking in Vancouver—Dr. W. E. Harper, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, will go to Vancouver today to give an address to members of the British Columbia Academy of Sciences. He will speak on "The Observatory and Its Work."

Visit Aged Men—W. H. Davies, secretary of the Landsberg Aged Men's Fund, paid his monthly visit to the Aged Men's Home on Monday, accompanied by Percy Raymond, making the usual donation to the non-pensioners. Candy was also distributed from the fund and cigars from E. O. Bailey.

Early Tourist Business—An exceptional tourist business at Easter, which is continuing, is reported by Up-Island resort owners who have called recently at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. One report, which was ready for the influx late in March, reported capacity registrations. The number of cars leaving Eastern and foreign license plates seen on local streets also point to an early tourist season.

Supervisors Wanted—Declaring that between 300 or 400 visitors from Seattle would be in this city April 29 to visit local gardens, Duncan D. McTavish, president of the Victoria Horticultural Society, asked for supervisors to direct sight-seers at Tuesday evening's meeting of the organization. The gardens at Hatley Park will be open for public inspection on April 24, while others may be viewed during the following week.

Gives Address—N. Y. Cross spoke to the Victoria and District British-Israel Association in the Foresters' Hall on Tuesday evening on "Preparations and the New Era," from the national church, and individual points of view, and affirmed that the preparedness could only be obtained by study of the whole Bible. He deplored the and sixty-first successor of Saint Peter.

"I come to you as the youngest bishop of Canada. I need the help of each and every one of my priests," said the bishop.

A WARM WELCOME
He knew that the Diocese of Victoria had made sacrifices in the past. They had had as bishops wonderful prelates who had been called elsewhere. He knew something of that experience, having had to leave three parishes in four years. But when Victoria had given him such a warm welcome he knew that the Faith was deep-rooted in the hearts, that the love of Christ was deep-rooted "in this lovely terrestrial paradise of Victoria."

The presence was noted of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, representative of His Majesty. The British flag more than ever in its history was the symbol of civil and religious liberty, which still remained wherever the Union Jack was flown. The bishop also noted the presence of many clergy from across the line. The greatest example of international fellowship that the world possessed today was the wonderful relationship between the people of the United States and the British people.

Some of the "separated brethren" were also present. Speaking of these, Bishop Cody said he did not want to sow seeds of discord, but rather to bind all closer together as children of the same God. Though they might differ in creed, yet they should love one another and extend the hand of mutual friendship.

THE CLERGY

Attending Bishop Cody as deacon and subdeacon, respectively, were Rev. J. A. Gaudette and Rev. Theodore Genkens. Others in the procession of about sixty clergy from the Most Rev. William Mark Duke, D.D., Archbishop of Vancouver and Metropolitan, who conducted the installation, his assistants being Rev. E. Sobry and Rev. W. G. Smith. Other visiting prelates were Most Rev. M. Bunoz, O.M.I., Prince Rupert; Most Rev. Charles D. White, Bishop of Spokane; Most Rev. Gerald Murray, C.S.B., Bishop of Saskatoon; Most Rev. Gerald Shaughnessy, S.M., Bishop of Seattle; Most Rev. Francis P. Carroll, Bishop of Calgary; Most Rev. Bishop J. L. Couderc, O.M.I., Prince Rupert; Most Rev. Martin M. Johnson, Bishop of Nelson; Right Rev. Lambert Burton, O.S.B., St. Martin's Abbey, Lecky, Wash.; Right Rev. Thomas Meier, O.S.B., St. Benedict's Abbey, Mount Angel, Ore.; Right Rev. Monsignor Arthur Lane, Portland, Ore.; and Right Rev. Msgr. M. W. MacKinnon, Vancouver.

The musical part of the service was in charge of A. A. Cownden, choirmaster of St. Martin's Cathedral, with Miss Marguerite McKay at the organ, and an augmented choir of about fifty voices.

Social Activities and Notes of Personal Interest

Many Friends Present At Cathedral Wedding

In the presence of a large number of friends of the principals, the wedding was solemnized in Christ Church Cathedral yesterday afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock, of Jean Broderick Waugh, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thacker, 939 Pandora Avenue, and Mr. Henry Charles Whitworth, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Whitworth, Langford. Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, officiated, and Mr. Stanley Bulley presided at the organ.

The pretty bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of French satin tulle, cut on slender princess lines, with a long train, the bodice being fashioned with a square neck and full sleeves tapering to points over the hands, and was buttoned to the waist, terminating in a full basque. Her beautiful veil of lace and tulle fell gracefully in a long train, and was arranged in Mary Queen of Scots style and caught with clusters of orange blossoms. She also wore a necklace and bracelet of amethysts and seed pearls, and carried a Colonial posy of lilies-of-the-valley, Ophelia roses and pale pink carnations.

THE ATTENDANTS

The charming attendants were dressed alike in frocks of crepe Madame, with very full skirts and costumes with large puff sleeves and Peter Pan collars, fastened with ribbon belts and bows at the throat to match their large halo hats. They also carried Colonial bouquets of carnations and sweet peas. Mrs. A. Blanco, the bridegroom's sister, was dressed in pale pink with hat and accessories in pale blue, and Miss Phyllis Monaghan in a gown of apple-green with sprigged accessories. Mr. Gerald Aiken was best man, and Mr. Frank Hawesley and Mr. Harry Holmes were the ushers.

As the bridal party left the church the bells of Christ Church pealed forth from the tower in honor of the occasion.

WEDDING RECEPTION

A reception was held after the service at the home of the bride's parents, where flowers in profusion made a lovely setting. Mrs. Thacker wore a gown of midnight blue crepe trimmed with French applique in pastel shades and a hat of Milan straw, and receiving with her was Mrs. Whitworth in a frock of blue lace with a chiffon redingote and a matching hat.

The bride and groom were greeted by their friends standing beneath a large floral arch, entwined with Japanese plum blossom, daffodils and other Spring blooms. In the dining-room, where the refreshments were served, the fireplace was banked with cinerarias in brilliant hues, and a three-tiered cake centered the long table, standing between vases of pale pink carnations and white sweet peas and tail pink candles.

LEAVE FOR SEATTLE

Mr. and Mrs. Whitworth left later in the afternoon for Seattle, the bride traveling in a frock of chocolate brown triple-sheer, with full puff sleeves trimmed with figured eclair. She also wore a beige princess coat and brown accessories. On their return the bride and groom will reside in the Montana Apartments, Empress Avenue.

Among the gifts was a mantel clock from the former fellow-employees of the bride on the staff of her father's firm of Thacker & Sons.

Juveniles Will Meet April 24

The Juvenile Musical Art Society will meet on Saturday, April 24, at 2:30 p.m. in the Victoria Truth Centre Hall, instead of next Saturday, the change being necessitated through prevailing illnesses.

Rockland Park W.C.T.U.

A review of three years of repeal of prohibition in the United States and the President's words after his inauguration on March 4, 1933, formed the basis for an interesting programme at the meeting of Rockland Park W.C.T.U. held recently at the home of Mrs. L. A. Moody, 2817 Prior Street. Quotations were read by Mrs. J. P. Hicks, Mrs. O. R. Booth, Mrs. A. Eilers, Mrs. G. Twamley, Mrs. R. Pettigrew, Mrs. L. A. Moody, Mrs. W. H. Rowson and Mrs. George Holt, from speeches and addresses by leading statesmen, labor leaders, producers and others of the United States to show that, despite President Roosevelt's edict that "the saloons must not return," the liquor business had increased enormously in the three years since repeal. Commitments to prison, owing to violation of liquor laws, had been increased 95 per cent, it was claimed, while arrests for drunken driving had also increased enormously. Mrs. Twamley conducted the devotional and Mrs. J. P. Hicks gave a report of the prize winners in the National Temperance study course. The president, Mrs. John Hall, presided. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. English.

Cathedral W.A.
The Senior Evening Branch of the Women's Auxiliary, Christ Church Cathedral, held a well-attended and successful tea in the Memorial Hall yesterday afternoon. The honorary president of the branch, Mrs. J. T. Dickson, and the president, Miss M. Sill, were hostesses, while Mrs. E. H. W. Clowes convened the musical programme. Songs were sung by Madame Claudet, accompanied by Mrs. Robson, and Miss Elizabeth Welsh, who was accompanied by Mrs. Douthwaite. Miss Barbara Clowes gave a cello selection. A stall of fancy work and home-cooking was in charge of Miss Venables and Mrs. D. Mitchell, and Miss N. Sill convened afternoon tea, assisted by the members of the branch. A short informal talk on the work of the Women's Auxiliary, and the objects for which the funds were used, was given by Mrs. J. T. Dickson. The room was beautifully decorated with Spring flowers.

Aged Women's Home

The monthly meeting of the committee of the Aged Women's Home was held on Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. W. L. Clay occupying the chair. The secretary reported that one of the inmates, who had been in the home for twenty-five years, had passed away during March. One inmate had entered during March. The matron reported that the house cleaning was progressing very satisfactorily and many new improvements were being made. The committee for the month includes Mesdames W. Grant, E. Heddie and G. A. Lister. A concert was given by St. Paul's Presbyterian Young People's Society, also one by the Victoria Gospel Hall Young People's Society. Through the courtesy of the management of the St. Patrick's Day concert, about forty of the inmates and staff attended and thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment.

Alexandra Review

Mrs. Minnie A. Ritchie presided at the monthly meeting of the Queen Alexandra Review No. 1, W.B.A., on Monday evening. Mesdames Bowden and Yeamans were appointed to take charge of the home-cooking stall to be held Saturday. The pioneer club will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. McNeill, Prior Street. "AZALEA" EMBROIDERED QUILT DESIGN

by Mayfair

MAYFAIR NEEDLE-ART-DESIGN NO. 318

"Azalea" in a basket with butterflies overhead, make this beautiful motif for a lovely spread. Almost like magic, simple stitches make the design, and you will enjoy the colorful yet dainty combinations of colors. Now that Spring is here, this design will do much to brighten your room, especially if the flowers are worked to carry out the main color in your room. The design includes the graceful basket of flowers for the centre, four matching motifs for the corners and a special arrangement for the border. Equally attractive worked on sheer or heavier materials. The pattern contains a transfer for one large basket and four motifs, complete instructions for making and embroidering, detail of stitches.

IMPROVES PARTY DISHES AS WELL AS DAILY MEALS

ALL dishes in which milk is used are improved by Carnation Milk—whether it is this fancy sandwich loaf or the simplest milk pudding. That's because Carnation's different from ordinary milk—twice as rich, equal cream in every drop. Wherever a recipe says "milk" you can use Carnation to advantage. The Carnation process makes this pure milk a better food for bottle-fed babies and growing children, because it is easier to digest; never varies; is safe; contains extra "sunshine" vitamin D; Carnation is the evaporated milk the Dionne Quintuplets use.

Social and Personal On Honeymoon in Bermuda

To Leave for Calgary

Only Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. B. Woodbridge, Gordon Head, Mrs. D. Patterson and Mrs. P. H. Hurley entertained at a farewell tea in honor of Mrs. Eric Pentz, who is leaving shortly to join her husband in Calgary where they will make their home. The rooms were gay with Spring flowers, and at the prettily-appointed tea table, with its lace cloth and centre of daffodils and mauve heather, Mrs. A. D. Woodbridge and Mrs. J. B. Pentz poured tea. Mrs. Pentz was presented with a lovely farewell gift and flowers. The invited guests were Mrs. A. B. Woodbridge, Mrs. J. B. Pentz, Mrs. Mackintosh, Mrs. W. White, Mrs. Lois Nelson, Mrs. A. Pollard, Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. D. Foubister, Mrs. Onions, Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. C. Muston, Mrs. G. Woodbridge, Mrs. J. Foubister (Salt Spring Island), Mrs. T. G. Custance, Mrs. R. Woodbridge, Miss M. Hurley and Miss Pollard.

Farewell Tea

Mrs. Charles Hudson was hostess at a tea arranged yesterday afternoon at her home on Oak Bay Avenue in honor of Mrs. R. R. Taylor, wife of the Reeve of Oak Bay, and president of the Oak Bay Friendly Help, who is leaving shortly to attend the Coronation in London. The tea table was arranged with a bowl of Spring flowers and tea was poured by Mrs. E. M. Brown. During the afternoon Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, on behalf of the members of the Oak Bay Friendly Help, presented Mrs. Taylor with a handsome handbag. Those present were Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Mrs. McCann, Mrs. W. W. Baines, Mrs. Len. Woodhouse, Mrs. S. J. I. A. Goward, Mrs. E. M. Brown and Miss Bradshaw.

Hostess at Reception

Mrs. Gordon Cameron was hostess at her home, 2021 Rumynede Avenue, last night, when she entertained at a reception following the Pacific drama conference. The reception rooms were charmingly arranged with plum blossoms and Spring blooms and on the supper table, which was covered with an all-lace cloth, were daffodils, mauve heather and forsythia gracefully placed in a crystal bowl, with silver candelabra, in which yellow candles glowed, at either side. Assisting the hostess in serving were Mrs. E. W. Hetherington, Mrs. Jack Barracough, Miss Eileen Smyly and Mrs. Harry Hay. Major Leslie Hughes entertained the guests with a group of baritone solos, accompanied by Miss Gwen Harper at the piano.

Shower Enjoyed

An enjoyable shower was given by members and friends of Douglas Street Baptist Church, on Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. J. Hetherington, Tennyson Avenue, in honor of Miss Annie Smith and Mr. Harold Hetherington, who will be married this month. The rooms were tastefully decorated with white bells and daffodils, the gifts being concealed in a tastefully-decorated box. Games were played, the guests were Mesdames Smith, S. Gregory, Saunders, W. Tyson, Ralph, Robinson, Pendray, Adams, S. Woodward, P. Humphrey, Stevens, Givin, D. Tyson, Hiron, P. Mackreith, J. Murrant and Smith, Misses May Smith, A. Russell, L. Tyson, J. Robinson, D. Pendray, L. Woodward, M. Woodward and M. McKinnon.

Entertains at Tea

Mrs. E. Brake, Edmonton, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Jesse, Lullie Street, entertained at tea at the Empress Hotel following the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club on Tuesday. The tea table, presided over by the hostess, was centred with Spring flowers. The guests were Mrs. H. A. Jesse, Mrs. F. H. Norton, Mrs. Fred Spencer, Mrs. J. W. Burnett and Mrs. J. C. Denbigh. Before returning home, Mrs. Brake will visit her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Brake.

Farewell Party

A farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Emery, 1186 Yates Street, with Miss Ruth Emery and Mr. Jack Emery, Jr., will leave for England on Friday. The evening was spent in playing monopoly. Those attending were Mrs. McGuffie, Mr. and Mrs. H. Harris and Patty, Misses Doris Mathieson, Anita Hillier, May Baldwin, Messrs. Bill Hole, Jimmie Kidd, Charlie Randall and Dick Vigor. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Emery, assisted by Mrs. McGuffie.

Here for Conference

Mrs. Olive W. Moir, Seattle, vice-president of the League of Western Writers, arrived yesterday to attend the sessions of the Pacific Drama Conference, which opened last evening at the Empress Hotel. Miss Margaret Stevenson and Miss Elsie Scott, Wenatchee, are other out-of-town visitors who have come over to attend the conference and sessions of the British Columbia Drama Festival.

Choir Entertained

Mrs. J. C. Warren, 1217 McKenzie Street, entertained the Fairfield United Church choir members on Monday evening. Music and games were enjoyed and during the evening Mr. L. Abbott presented Miss A. Sherlock, who will leave for England shortly, with a leather-bound five-year diary as a gift from the choir members. Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. C. Warren and Miss Estelle Clark.

Dinner Held By Graduates Of Alumni

The Victoria Acadia Alumni Association held its annual meeting in the form of a banquet at the Empress Hotel on Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for twenty. The president of the association, B. S. Freeman, was in the chair.

After enjoying an hour of fellowship and a five-course dinner, Mr. Freeman proposed a toast to the King, after which the National Anthem was sung. A. E. Dunlop, LL.B., then proposed a toast to Acadia, taking as his theme, "Past Presidents," which recalled many amusing incidents of college life. This was replied to by the guest of honor, Dr. F. W. Patterson, president of Acadia University, Nova Scotia. He gave a graphic and comprehensive account of the Acadia of today, her needs and her vision for the future.

The programme was interspersed by the singing of old Acadia songs, accompanied by Mrs. C. S. Beale and led by Mrs. H. O. English. These were entered into with great spirit by the graduates.

The report from the nominating committee was submitted. Members of the executive elected for the coming year follow: President, B. S. Freeman; vice-president, V. L. Denton; secretary-treasurer, W. H. Webber; additional members, O. H. Cogswell and Miss Queenie Tabor.

CHEMAINUS

Chemainus Guides, under acting captain Mrs. E. Knight and Lieutenant Ruth Johnson, assisted by Mesdames Fraser and Underwood, recently held a successful card party and dance when the Scouts and other young people were their guests. The proceeds will be handed over to the committee for general expenses. Miss Johnson was in charge of games for the juniors, during the cards, which were in charge of Mrs. Knight. The card winners were Jimmie Humbird and Eileen Cathcart. Dancing followed the refreshments, which were served under the direction of Mesdames Fraser and Underwood.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Old Mr. Toad Visits Grandfather Frog
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Grandfather Frog and old Mr. Toad are cousins. Of course you know that without being told. Everybody does. But not everybody knows that they were born in the same place. They were born in the Smiling Pool. Both had long tails and for a while no legs, and played and swam together without ever going on shore. In fact, when they were babies they couldn't live out of the water. And people who saw them didn't know the difference between them and called them by the same names—tadpoles or pol-wogs. But when they grew old enough to have legs and get along without tails, they parted company. Yes, sir, they parted company.

You see it was this way: Grandfather Frog (of course, he wasn't grandfather then) loved the Smiling Pool so well that he couldn't think of leaving it. He heard all about the great world and what a wonderful place it was, just the same as Mr. Toad did, but he couldn't and wouldn't believe that there could be any nicer place than the Smiling Pool, and so he made up his mind that he would live there always.

But Mr. Toad wanted to see the Great World. He could hardly wait to get rid of his tail before turning his back on the Smiling Pool and starting out to see the Great World. Nothing that Grandfather Frog could say would stop him, and away he went when he was so small that he could hide under a clover leaf. Grandfather Frog didn't expect to see him again. But he did, though it wasn't for a long, long time. And when he did come back he had grown so big that Grandfather Frog hardly knew him at first. And right then and there began a dispute which they have kept up ever since. Whether it was best to go out into the Great World or remain in the home of childhood. Each was sure that what he had done was best, and each is sure of it to this day.

So, whenever old Mr. Toad visits Grandfather Frog, as he does every once in a while, they were sure to argue and argue on this same old subject. It was on the day that Grandfather Frog had, so nearly choked to death when he tried to swallow a big fish, after having already filled his stomach with foolish green flies. Old Mr. Toad had heard about it from one of the Merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind, and right away had started for the Smiling Pool to pay his respects to Grandfather Frog and tell him how glad he was that Spotty the Turtle had come just in time to pull the fish out of Grandfather Frog's throat.

Now, all day long, Grandfather Frog had had to listen to unpleasant remarks about his greediness. It was such a splendid chance to tease him that everybody around the Smiling Pool took advantage of it. Grandfather Frog took it good-naturedly at first, but after a while it made him cross, and by the time his cousin, old Mr. Toad, arrived he was sulky and just grunted when Mr. Toad told him how glad he was to find Grandfather Frog quite recovered.

Old Mr. Toad pretended not to notice how out of sorts Grandfather Frog was, but kept right on talking. "If you had been out in the Great World as much as I have been you would have known that Little Joe Otter wasn't giving you that fish for nothing," said he.

Grandfather Frog swelled right out with anger. "Chugurum!" he exclaimed in his deepest, gruffest voice. "Chugurum! Go back to your Great World and learn to mind your own affairs, Mr. Toad."

Right away old Mr. Toad began to swell with anger, too. For a whole minute he glared at Grandfather Frog so indignantly he couldn't find his tongue.

Stock Prices at New York Mart In Heavy Slump

NEW YORK, April 7 (P).—Stocks hit the toboggan in today's market in the wake of officially denouncing rumors the Treasury was contemplating a cut in its gold-buying price in order to put brakes on an incipient boom.

In fast selling that put the ticker tape as much as five minutes behind in the first and last hours, leading issues dropped 1 to more than 5 points and the majority closed around their lows of the day.

Steels and coppers touched off the relapse, but oil, rail, farm implement, rubber, merchandising, utility and specialty issues were not slow in joining the slide.

Settlement of the Chrysler strike failed as a stimulant, the stock weakening from the start and closing down 53.4 points at 1171.2. Some circles looked for a general drive on other motor makers. General Motors yielded nearly 2 at 59.3.4. Auburn bucked the trend for gains most of the time but ended at 31. Reo Motors held an advance of 1.8 at 41 on announcement Eastern capitalists had bought into the concern. It was also announced Reo stockholders had agreed to evacuate the company's plants.

U.S. Steel was off 51.4 at 1113.4 and Bethlehem 43.8 at 90.5.8.

Export copper and copper futures fell away briskly and red metal shares trailed. Spot zinc was lowered by one company and imported bar silver at New York was sliced 3.4 of a cent to 46 cents an ounce following two successive recent hoists to the best levels in five months.

Sweeping declines in commodities and stock markets left some impression on the bond list where prices worked lower.

Declines in the U.S. Government division ranged from 1-32 of a point to 28-32. Treasury 31-8's of 1932 suffered the widest drop.

Foreign issues closed uneven to lower.

GIVES TALK ON CEMENT PLANTJ. H. McIntosh Addresses
Kiwanis Club—Austin
Curtis Leads ForumJ. H. McIntosh, works manager of the British Columbia Cement Company, addressed the Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel, Tuesday. He traced the evolution of the building material from the time it was dug from the quarry until it emerged as the finished product.The plant at Bamberton is the only one of its kind in British Columbia, Mr. McIntosh said, and manufactures Portland cement. Lime rock and salicous materials are taken from the quarry on the hillside and fed into a number of crushing machines. Cement, at the Bamberton plant is made by the "wet" method, Mr. McIntosh explained. That is, it is ground with water. Five hundred and sixty pounds of raw material are required to make 350 pounds of finished product, the loss in weight being caused by the expulsion of carbon dioxide and the evaporation of the water. This latter step, Mr. Mc-Intosh said, is the cause of the large billows of supposedly white smoke coming from the chimneys. In reality it is mostly steam.About twenty-four tons of dry rock are ground per hour, which in turn is fed through very small screens. The most important process of the manufacture is the burning in the specially made kilns. Mr.
McIntosh then explained the technical steps in connection with the burning to the finished cement.
Although over 100 men work at the plant, only thirty-five are actually employed in the manufacture of cement. The remainder of the staff is utilized in the great amount of repair work necessary for the machinery and in quarrying.With the "One Cent Excursion Rates, From the Prairies to the Coast," as the topic of discussion, Austin Curtis led the weekly Kiwanis forum. Among the suggestions presented by members was to have Victoria advertised more extensively on the prairies, so that visitors coming to Vancouver would continue their trip to this city.
Another point raised was that visitors from the East should be shown around the city more on their arrival here.GARDEN PLANS ARE DESCRIBEDHorticultural Society Hears Address on Design by John Grant"Here in the Northwest we should have a distinctive form of garden, with a much better technique. We have strong dominating characteristics in our own landscapes and should use more of our own native plants. If we start building from what we have, I feel it will go down as a tradition," John Grant, F.R.H.S., told members of the Victoria Horticultural Society at the City Hall Tuesday evening.Taking as his subject "Garden Design," the speaker warned his listeners that it was best for the beginner to have a planned garden. He described formal treatment—the symmetrical spacing from an axis line, and informal treatment, which gives the eye a sense of balance only.
Where an architectural object dominates, the formal design should be used, he said. Where the natural background dominates, the informal design should be used."The formal treatment should not be used unless it could be done well, and this is rarely the case in a small property," Mr. Grant declared.
Color could only be considered after permanent materials, such as evergreen, and plants had been properly arranged in the character of association, herbaceous borders should be so arranged so that the colors of foliage are not indiscrimi-nately mixed, or contrasted. "Confine yourself to that which will give you the greatest sense of repose,"
Mr. Grant urged.

What Today Means

If April 8 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 6:30 to 8:30 a.m. from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.Try to understand what might be the cause of some relative or friend assuming a hurt attitude, and do what you can to correct it. International or unintentional rudeness will be back of many a person's seemingly resentful pose, that is likely to have a disconcerting influence on domestic relationships this day. Politeness is the only cornerstone on which a happy home life can be constructed, and a lack of it will prove destructive to the peace of any family circle. Women especially must be careful this day, not to look at things in a narrow-minded, prejudicial fashion if they wish to avoid some unfavorable reaction that will cause bitterness.
Married and engaged couples, and those seriously entertaining the idea of becoming affianced, must be tolerant of shortcomings this day if acrimonious disputes are to be avoided.If a woman and April 8 is your birthday, you may be rather headstrong, particularly when it comes to having your own way. You must never feel you are privileged to sayHudson's Bay Company

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

DON'T WAIT FOR INFECTION TO WEAKEN YOUR FIGHT- ING FORCES

When pain occurs in joints or muscles the first thought of the physician is to look for infected

Children's Colds

Best treated
without "doing"

Now WHITE-STAINLESS

VICKS VAPOR

Considerable damage may already occurs in a joint the infection "as been in the system for months, perhaps for years. And just as it has taken months or years for the poison from the infection to be large enough or strong enough to cause pain, swelling, or other conditions, so will it take months and perhaps years to get rid of the poisons from the blood and tissues.

As considerable of the poison remains in the lower bowel, the bowel is usually kept active by laxatives
if exercise cannot be taken.

But what we seem to forget is that during the time that the poisons from infection are accumulating to the point where they cause pain, the body forces are steadily fighting these poisons; fighting for months and years before the poisons win battles to the point where they are able to cause pain.

If, then, while your body forces your resistance to infections and their poisons, are busy fighting off these infections and poisons, you are attacked by some other ailment, common cold, flu, pneumonia, the

your fighting forces have to fight
two armies instead of one.
Dr. W. H. Hughes in British
Journal of Experimental Pathology, London, says, after careful experimental research work, that "the blood of patients with an active infection (teeth, tonsils, gall bladder, sinuses) shows a steady decrease in its ability to fight off harmful organisms."

That is, of your body is already fighting an infection, your blood loses some of its fighting power, and the new or other ailment that attacks you has that much more change of causing symptoms.
The thought then is not to wait for pain or aches in joints or muscles to tell you that infection is present, but to prevent infection by getting an examination by your physician at least once a year, and by your dentist twice each year.

Hudson's Bay XI Blanks Spencers In Trophy Final

Registers 2-0 Victory Over Diamond "S" Boys in Penderay Cup Fixture for Wednesday Football League Championship—Bob Preston and Don Fish Net Markers Late in the Game

Symbolic of the Wednesday Football League championship since its inception almost two decades ago, the handsome Penderay Cup, most prized trophy in the midweek loop, went back to the Hudson's Bay yesterday after a three-year stay with Spencers.

Playing in a sudden-death cup-tie fixture at the Royal Athletic Park, Hudson's Bay, blanked Spencers, 2-0, when they scored twice in the last three minutes. Bob Preston, veteran forward, who had an off day, redeemed himself late in the game when he garnered the initial marker exactly three minutes before the end. It was a timely goal and made up for the mistake Preston made earlier in the game when he failed to score from a penalty.

But it was left to Don Fish, bustling outside right for the Hudson's Bay, to provide the thrills and the laughs for the fans. Fish netted the last goal of the match seconds before Referee Percy Shrimpton called it a day, when he raced from the Bay's end of the field and scored in an empty goal.

FINAL OFFENSIVE

With the entire Diamond "S" team on the offensive in a final effort to save the cup—they were the defenders—Les Kennedy cleared to Don Fish, on the right wing, and before the fans had realized what had happened, the Hudson's Bay player had raced down the field and banged the leather into the net. Hitting a fast clip and leaving all pressure behind, Fish literally swept past Lloyd Cann, Spencers' fullback; hurdled over Bernie Clarke, who had rushed back to stop him, and then slipped the ball over Norm Stewardson's head as he came out to save. The net behind Stewardson was empty, and the ball, its course undisturbed, rolled into the goal, barely hitting the hemp at the back.

Play in the initial stanza veered up and down the field, with Spencers having the edge. Shots on goal, however, were few and far between and both netminders had little to do. Norm Stewardson, guarding the hemp for the Diamond "S" boys, was called upon to pull down two dangerous high shots, while Renfrew, in the Bay net, never had a stinger in this half.

As the final session opened, "Red" McMillan replaced Roy Whittle on the left wing for Spencers.

Hudson's Bay put on the pressure as the half opened and Les Kennedy sent in a high shot, which Stewardson handled nicely. Seconds later he cleared a light header from Bob Preston. At the other end, Art Chapman sent in a long floater and Renfrew pushed it behind.

PRESTON SCORES

Bays went on the attack again and Les Kennedy hit the post with a terrific drive. Bob Preston took the rebound and Stewardson made a good save. Keeping up the attack, the Hudson's Bay finally went one up when Bob Preston's shot, went off Bernie Clarke's boot and into the net. The goal came after Oakland had taken a corner.

In their final effort, the Diamond

"S" boys sent everybody on the attack and it was while this attack was in force that Fish, who has plenty of speed, dashed down the field and garnered the final tally seconds before the whistle ended the game.

Shrimpton refereed and the teams were:

Hudson's Bay—Renfrew, Wyatt, O'Connell, Williamson, Kennedy, Ferguson, Fish, McMillan, H. Padden, R. Preston and J. Oakman.

Spencers—Stewardson, Clarke, Cann, Speller, Moir, R. Bradley, Brown, Munro, Chapman, Collins, Whittle and McMillan.

MACAULAY TO MEET GORGE

Esquimalt Golfers Will Clash With the Vale in Inter-Club Match

Macaulay Point's first string golf squad will head for the Gorge Vale course on Sunday to engage in an inter-club match. Norm Wallace and Eric Wright, Esquimalt's lead-off pair, will meet Freddy Painter and Dick Cox in the day's feature match.

Draw and starting times, with the Macaulay Point first mentioned, follow:

8:45—N. Wallace and E. Wright vs. F. Painter and R. F. Cox.

9:30—H. H. Allen and H. P. Morgan vs. H. H. Allen and H. P. Morgan.

9:20—C. F. Brown and H. S. Morgan vs. D. G. Sutherland and J. O. Thompson.

V.A.C. LINE-UP

The Victoria Athletic Club soccer line-up for Saturday's fixture follows: Thomas, D. Simpson, Tonkin, Popham, Atherton, McAllister, Shubbrook, Perkins, R. Simpson, Mar. C. Smith, Travis, Foreman, Hardy, E. Smith and Watson.

Fifteen minutes of the session had passed when Bays were given a penalty against Bernie Clarke for hands. Preston took the shot and skied the ball over the framework. "Red" McMillan sent in a low sizzler and Renfrew was extended to clear. It was Spencers' scoring effort of the entire game. Minutes later, Bob Brown sent in a grounder and Renfrew pushed it behind.

LADITZI WILL MEET STRELICH

Heavyweights Booked for Semi-Windup at Tillicum Gym on Saturday

Talkative Rudy Laditzi, rugged Italian exponent of the bone-bending pastime, who excels in the role of villain, will headline Saturday's mat show at the Tillicum gymnasium. Battle-scarred veteran of the squared circle, Laditzi runs "Bull" Martin, master clown of the wrestling circuit, a close second when it comes to dishing out rough tactics.

Steve Strellich, younger member of the Strellich brothers, will be tossed in against the Italian in a match that is scheduled for eight ten-minute rounds or the best of three falls. Strellich, who doubles for movie stars in Hollywood when he is not squirming in the ring, usually turns in a smart exhibition minus the unethical tactics. Game, pleasing and a good performer, Strellich has become quite popular with Victoria fans.

Count Francis Touche, Parisian grappler, who is rated as the best-looking pacydym now appearing on the Coast, and Jim Casey, young Bostonian Irishman, match holds in the special event. The special and the opener will bring together promising local matmen. The first bout will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Letters to Editor

ATTENTION LAWN BOWLERS

Sir:—The British bowling team visiting Florida has just taken home the Charles Fox Trophy after winning three straight test matches against the Americans, which serves as the preamble to what I want to say to all the local manipulators of the bias bowl, if you will be kind enough to let this appear.

The pictures of these bowlers shows the Britishers all dressed alike and when I look at my collection of snapshots of Victoria bowlers in important matches of the past twenty years we are shown up as a motley crew.

But now that we are definitely on the map and are to be favored with visits from the South Africans this Summer and the British team next year, may I ask that all members of the fraternity, especially those who aspire to represent their province, city or club against distinguished visitors will consider seriously the matter of adopting the recognized standard of dress for all such occasions.

Surely if cricketers, foot and basketballers, tennis players and others can turn out suitably attired for their week-end matches, bowling officials can insist on a little style occasionally.

If it is true all men are equal on and under the green, then why not wear the emblem of the fact and worthy represent the modern debaters of the world's oldest sport.

Spencers Beat Local Cagers in Play-Off For B.C. Coast Title

Vancouver Basketballers Capture Much-Delayed Game From Hoyle-Brown by 31 to 25 Score—Winners Gain Big Lead in Opening Period

VANCOUVER, April 7.—Vancouver Spencers' quintette tonight lifted the Coast senior "B" men's basketball crown and won the right to meet the Interior winner in the provincial final as they defeated Victoria Hoyle-Brown, 31-25, in a sudden-death semi-final fixture.

Popping in baskets from all angles, the Mainlanders led 20-6 at half time, but were almost caught in the second half, as the Victorians turned on a spirited rally to count five baskets in a row and run the score to 20-16. Spencers eventually found their shooting eyes again and pulled away once more.

The Vancouver team will travel to the Interior next week-end to engage Summerland in a two-game total-point series for the provincial title. The first game will be at Summerland April 9, and the second at Penikese April 10.

Victoria took the lead on a free throw as the game got under way, but Vancouver counted three points before the visitors sank another free throw. From there Spencers ran up six more points without a reply, and kept up their sharpshooting to pile up an overwhelming lead in the first half.

LOCALS CLOSE GAP

Taking the floor down fourteen points, the Islanders completely outplayed Spencers in the first few minutes of the second half in a rally that left their opponents dizzy.

Bill Levy, Jack Cadell, Pete Campbell and George Robertson all hooped field goals, the latter getting two, without a reply from Spencers. The spurt brought the Victorians within four points of tying the score, but Spencers recovered and took command again.

George Robertson topped the Victoria scorers with ten points, while Merrie Alexander had nine and Bill Woods and Hal Jacobson each scored six for Spencers.

The teams: Victoria Hoyle-Brown—Jack Cadell (3), Lloyd Jones, Noel Morgan (2), Frank Elliott, Bill Levy (5), George Robertson (10), Gordy Patterson, Pete Campbell (3), Ken Fleming (2), Les Bradley. Total 25.

Vancouver Spencers—Merrie Alexander (9), Basil Sands (2), Len Leach (3), Garf, Walker, Batterby, Hal Jacobson (6), George Pellers (5), Bill Woods (6). Total 31.

SECOND FIXTURE OF CUP SERIES WILL BE PLAYED IN DETROIT

Manager Jack Adams Still Doubtful About Starting Normie Smith in Nets Tonight Against New York Club—Rangers Leave Full of Confidence After Their First-Game Victory

DETROIT, April 7.—The injury-ridden Red Wings of Detroit, one game down to New York's Rangers in the five-game Stanley Cup series, came home today with a feeling "We'll pull out of the hole."

To retain the cup and the world hockey championship they won last year the Wings must stop the inspired rush of the "hot" Ranger team and win three games here before Lester Patrick's young men get two more victories. The Wings think they'll do it.

The tension is gone," Marty Barry, Detroit centre, told Manager Jack Adams tonight after the Red Wings left their train and gathered on the home ice. "All the other fellows feel the same way."

Adams agreed. "We'll show them a trick or two yet," he said. "The team that beat the Canadians is good enough to beat the Rangers."

Who will be in the nets for Detroit when the series resumes tomorrow night remained a question. If Norm Smith is not fully recovered from an arm injury, Earl Robertson, who played two periods of the game at New York Tuesday, will tend goal.

RANGERS CONFIDENT

NEW YORK, April 7.—As confident a band of athletes as ever went to the hockey wars followed Lester Patrick on to a Detroit-bound train here tonight, intent on winding up the Stanley Cup series in three games.

New York Rangers had every reason to be sure of themselves, for a team never looked hotter than the blueshirts did in swamping the Red Wings 5-1 in the cup final opener here last night. It was the fifth straight triumph for the Patrick pack men in the title play-downs.

There were no serious player injuries to wrinkle the Patrick brow. Ott Heller wore adhesive tape on his head. Joe Cooper had a bruise on his side, memento of a jarring check into the boards. Otherwise there wasn't a scratch in the carload of happy hockey men.

By way of explaining the transformation of a Ranger team that was hot and cold during the regular season into one that has torn through the play-offs like a juggernaut, Frankie Boucher said that in all his years under the big top it was the first time he had ever seen a team clicking "at top form from the goal mouth out."

"Often two or three men are 'hot' and that is usually enough to make a team a winning one," he said. "Right now every man on our club is red hot, and I don't see how anything can stop us."

PORTLAND IN NARROW WIN

Ducks Nose Out Seals in Coast League—Padres, Sacramento Triumph

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7 (AP)—Portland won a ten-inning game from the San Francisco Seals, 5 to 4, today when Left Fielder Steve Coscarart boomed out a long fly to score John Frederick and break up the extra-frame engagement.

Frederick had singled and taken third on Bedore's single. Opening of the game was marred by an accident in which Ernest Pelka, forty-one, local commercial photographer, was hit on the head by a ball pitched by Rex Cecil, Portland rookie hurler.

Pelka was snapping a picture when Cecil let fly with a wild pitch. He was warming up for batting practice mound work. The former's skull was believed fractured. He was taken to a hospital for examination.

Cecil, a Los Angeles youth, is to be farmed out to Vancouver, B.C., of the Western International League. Score (ten innings): R. H. E. Portland..... 5 10 0 San Francisco..... 4 8 1

Batteries—Liska, Radonits and Cronin; Cole, Shores and Monzo.

DOUBLE WINS GAME

SAN DIEGO, April 7 (AP)—Second Baseman Jimmy Reese's double, scoring Catcher George Detore and First Baseman George McDonald, gave the Padres a 4-to-3, thirteen-inning victory over the Mission Reds here this afternoon. It was the San Diegans' second straight triumph in the seven-game series.

Score (thirteen innings): R. H. E. Mission..... 3 9 1 San Diego..... 4 13 1 Batteries—Bohen and Sprinz; Silva, Pillette, War and Detore.

SACS COME THROUGH

SACRAMENTO, April 7 (AP)—Sacramento defeated Los Angeles, 3 to 2, in eleven innings today for their second straight win of the series.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Bill Schmidt, of the Solons, and Dutch Lieber, of the Angels. Garibaldi started to break up the game in the eleventh with a double and Prather finished it with a single.

Score (eleven innings): R. H. E. Los Angeles..... 2 10 2 Sacramento..... 3 9 0 Batteries—Silva and Bottarini; Schmidt and Clark.

ROOKIE BLANKS INDIANS

OAKLAND, Calif., April 7 (AP)—Ernie Bonham, twenty-year-old pitcher sent to the Oaks by the New York Yankees, turned in a four-hit performance here tonight, and the Oaks whitewashed the Seattle Indians, 7 to 0.

Bonham retired nine of the Indians on strikes. Lew Blair led the Oak offense by connecting for two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. Hal Turpin, Seattle hurler, held the Oaks to only one hit during the first five frames, but was hit hard during the remaining three innings, and the Oaks pushed over six of their seven runs on eight hits.

Score: R. H. E. Seattle..... 0 4 3 Oakland..... 7 9 1 Batteries—Turpin and Spindel; Bonham and Raimondi.

A meeting of the Saanich and District Football League will be held this evening at Alex's Hall, Burnside Road, at 7:30 o'clock. All clubs are requested to have delegates present.

Jane Dixon Says:

PRESENTING A SITUATION IN WHICH CAREERS AND LOVE AND OPINION ARE ALL MIXED UP INTO A POT POURRI OF "WHAT SHALL I DO?"

Career nowadays is a two-way street. Career for the man and career of the women. Here is a situation in which careers and love and opinions are all mixed up in a pot pourri of "What shall I do?"

Dear Miss Dixon: I have been in love with a young man for the past two years and he seems to be in love with me.

He feels he cannot marry and do justice to his career. Maybe this is true, and I don't want to come between him and his business connections.

However, since he seems to endeavor to make a joke of the whole matter, he pinches my toes.

I'm pretty good at dancing and have been assured with practice and concentration I have a very good chance of becoming a successful professional dancer. This assurance does not come from amateurs—it is straight from those who know dancing and its requirement.

The man I love objects to my pursuing this career. I haven't seen him in two months and plan never to see him again unless conditions change.

Regardless of his feeling in the matter, do you think it best for me to become a professional dancer?

A career of this kind would give me more pleasure than ten husbands, and I would be satisfied with those who worked for me as companions—especially since this man who objects led me into caring for him.—Gigi

Comment: Gigi, you are a disgruntled young woman and the last sentence lets the cat out of the bag. You want to get even with the young man. You want to prove to him that if there are careers going about the place, you can have one as well as he.

When you say you wouldn't give up the professional career of dancer for ten husbands you mean nine. You would give it up for this particular man but not for the fact that he holds his career higher than his interest in you.

Why not have the same determination about your profession as he has about his?

Why not be interested in dancing first and give the best you have in you to your ambition? The young man holds his career high. You should hold yours as high.

The trouble is that the young man is making a business of his ambition and that yours is a maybe—yes maybe—no. He is strong enough to follow his star and you are wondering whether or not the star you like is worth following.

You never plan to see the young man again unless conditions change?

Conditions never change unless you go to work to change them. You must not sit in a rocking-chair and wait for things to happen. You must get up on your toes and make things happen.

What has happened in your case is that the young man has driving force and is going toward his goal come what may. He is sure he can reach his goal if he doesn't give himself too much interference.

You are only playing with what you think you can do, and are using it as a threat to the young man and as a sop to yourself.

If you can dance, get out and dance.

Nothing succeeds like success, even in a love triangle.

Australian Davis Cup Players Will Arrive Tomorrow

HEADED by Jack Crawford, veteran netter and playing captain, Australia's Davis Cup tennis team will pass through Victoria tomorrow morning, aboard the "liner" Ararangi, en route to Mexico City, where they will play Mexico in the opening round of North American zone play. Other members of the team are Jack Quist, 1936 Australian men's singles champion; Vivian McGrath and seventeen-year-old Larry Brownish. Dr. E. W. Book, president of the British Columbia L.T.A. and vice-president of the Western Canada L.T.A., will meet the Anzac players on their arrival here.

Winners at Oak Bay

Mrs. A. Watson finished with a card of 92-14-78 to top "A" Class in the women's monthly medal competition held at the Oak Bay links this week. Mrs. C. W. Pangman turned in a score of 103-29-74 to head "B" Class.

TRIALS POSTPONED

Due to lack of birds and backward weather, the field trials scheduled for Sunday by the Victoria Gun-Dog Club, have been postponed.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"APRIL FOOL!"

The tantalizing of the unwary on the first of April is not exclusively an American pastime. It is done all over the world, in France, for instance, where the victim is called poison d'Avril—April fish, that is, one young and therefore easily caught!—and in Scotland, where he is dubbed gowk or cuckoo.

April fooling probably originated with the first practical joker. The precise circumstances of its advent are, however, subject to divergence of opinion and its beginnings are obscured in antiquity.

One version takes us back to Genesis, attributing the custom to the commemoration of Noah's releasing a dove from the ark on the first of April; the dove had to return because the waters had not yet abated.

Another theory is that the custom of dispatching our friends on "sleeveless errands" dates from the miracle play, formerly given at Easter time, which showed the sending of Christ from Annas to Caiaphas, from Caiaphas to Pilate, from Pilate to Herod, and despite this, His subsequent crucifixion.

And then again, we are told that April fooling hails from the pagan festival of the Hindoos of India, which takes place on March 31 and corresponds in character to the "Feast of Fools" of the Romans, at which just the sort of jokes with which we are familiar were the order of the day.

Today as in 1760, when it was first written in Poor Robin's Almanac, it is a fact that:

"The first of April, some do say, Is set apart for All Fools' Day; But why the people call it so, Nor I, nor they themselves, do know."

CHAPTER XIX

The next moment she was going on down the steps. She had not spoken, but Ronney would not soon forget what he had seen in her eyes. He waited until she had disappeared.

Moving in a stupor, Sandra squeezed into a subway train. It was in motion before it came to her that she had not gone to David's trial as David's sister but as a reporter for The Flash.

But that was ridiculous, as she had known when Matt Stanley was giving her the assignment. It meant simply that she didn't have a job. She had known that then, had actually drawn breath to tell him she didn't want the job when it occurred to her that by taking the assignment she would keep some one else from taking it, some one who would write the story as Matt Stanley wanted it written. So she had not told him and now she must go back and face him—without a story.

It was not until she was climbing the stairs to the city room of The Flash that she changed her mind about that. The idea came to her: "I'll write a pip. And I'll take it in to hard-boiled Stanley and let him read it and when he says, 'You're fired!' I'll say 'Thanks for them kind words, brother,' and walk out. She settled at her typewriter. Untroubled by the experienced reporter's worries about an effective lead, she wrote steadily, her two fingers moving like pistons, driven by intense mixed emotions—pride in David's courage, heartache over what had happened to him, a growing antagonism towards Matt Stanley and The Flash.

At last she rose, four double-spaced pages in one hand, a triumphant smile on her lips. She asked French, the city editor, "Shall I show this to Mr. Stanley?"

French took the copy and read the first paragraph. Then he gave it back to her, rose and held out his hand. "It was a pleasure to know you, Miss Marshall. He started around the desk. "Come over here and I'll show you the formula."

"Thanks," Sandra smiled, "but not today."

"O.K.," he said. "Matt's in conference, but I imagine you can break in. I suppose you know what you're doing."

"On this story, I do. Thanks for wanting to save me."

She knocked on Matt Stanley's door, stepped inside. Matt was at his desk. A man was sitting on the desk, his back to her. She was beside him before she recognized Bryant Wilson.

"Oh, hello, there," Bryant greeted her. "So you're a newspaper gal. Now watch The Flash circulation jump."

Sandra nodded, pleasantly, but spoke first to Matt Stanley. "Here's the story, Mr. Stanley. Mr. French said he thought you'd want to see it."

Matt took the copy and leaned back in his chair. Sandra turned to Bryant Wilson. "You were nice to get me my first big chance, Bryant."

"It was nice to The Flash, you mean," Bryant grinned. "I came up to see how you were making out—and to ask about taking in a show."

"Behind them Matt's voice boomed. "Rotten lead! Irony is no good in a news story." He sat forward as both Sandra and Bryant faced the desk. "Newspaper readers are dumb. When you say, 'I stood up and took it on the chin without flinching' the reader thinks you mean what you say, not that you mean the very opposite."

Sandra smiled, but she didn't say anything.

"What's the story?" Bryant asked Matt.

"The Brooke case," Matt said. "Young Park Avenue heiloon goes on a bat and practically kills some poor devil in Central Park and steps on the gas. And they have the gall to reduce the charge to driving under influence of liquor. There's justice for you."

"Brooke?" said Bryant incredulously.

"That's right. David Brooke. Old man's a top-notch lawyer, which probably explains why he skinned out with a thirty-day jail sentence."

How do I look to other people? So many women risk their beauty by neglect of constipation. It often causes loss of pep, sallow skins, dull eyes, poor complexions.

Yet common constipation can be ended so easily. Just eat two table-spoonfuls of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk or fruits every day, three times daily in severe cases. This delicious ready-to-eat cereal supplies the "bulk" needed to exercise the system—and vitamin B to help tone up the intestinal tract.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs more than twice its weight in water, gently opening out the intestinal tract. It never causes the artificial action of pills and drugs, that often prove ineffective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, you see, is a food—not a medicine. It relieves common constipation the way Nature intended—so its results are safe. Buy it at your grocer's. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

Bryant looked at Sandra, saw the warning in her eyes. He didn't say anything.

Matt was reading again. Bryant said, "How would Helen Hayes strike you? And something to eat and as much or as little dancing as you felt like after?"

Sandra thought, "I'm out of a job, and I'll go mad thinking about David tonight. I think I'll go." But hadn't quite decided when Matt jumped to his feet and fairly shouted:

"Did I tell you how to write this story? Didn't I give you the angle we want two minutes before you got out of here? Suddenly he took the four pages of copy in his two hands and tore them in two. "The Flash doesn't print that kind of stuff, do you understand? And I don't play around with reporters who can't understand English and follow instructions."

Sandra was smiling. She saw Bryant retreating, heard the door close behind her, held Matt's angry gaze—and went on smiling.

"Now you're going to write that story the way I say to write it. You're going to see this Brooke kid as an enemy of society."

But why—I mean, aren't you going to fire me?"

Matt glared. Then his face softened. "Listen—when you write, not one in a thousand in this game can really write. But you can. That story's full of slick writing. You've got a swell style and you don't lack for the right word in the right place for the right word in the right place."

"I'm not going to fire you. I'm going to show you what I want and—"

He broke off as a bell jangled and caught up the phone. After a little while he put the instrument down and stared down at his desk. "All right," he said, "we won't rewrite that one. We'll forget about it and get started right on the next one."

"Was that Bryant on the phone?" Sandra asked, quietly.

Matt looked at her, nodded. "Why didn't you tell me he was your brother? After all, I'm human, you know."

Sandra went out and found Bryant waiting at her desk. "You lug!" she smiled. "What's the show and where do we dance?"
